

Since our last issue Miss Katie Brewer enjoyed a couple of weeks' visit with relatives in Tacoma, Wash.

The Seniors and Juniors of the school enjoyed their annual party on the evening of Feb. 16. It proved a most pleasing affair in every way.

Miss Clara Guyette has returned to the school after an absence of six years. Many old-time Chemawa students will recall her and be pleased to learn that she is again with us. Her home is at Wapato, Wash.

In the way of entertainment Supt. Wadsworth continues to provide moving picture shows and dances for the students, as well as special attractions from time to time. The moving picture shows and dances alternate on Friday nights; moving pictures one Friday night and dancing on the following Friday evening. This makes a fine schedule.

Quite a number of Chemawa people attended the concert of the Portland Symphony Orchestra in Salem on the afternoon of Sunday, March 7th. From all accounts the concert was an artistic success in every way and a large and enthusiastic crowd greeted the instrumentalists. Such concerts are of great value in any community.

On the evening of February 20th Mrs. Berwick, a reader from Portland, gave our people an elocutionary treat. She was ably assisted by the band, whose playing was fully up to its high standard, under the direction of Mr. Loos. During the evening Alex Melovidov played a violin solo so well that he was recalled. Miss Brewer played the piano accompaniments most acceptably. The evening was a memorable one in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dillstrom visited Chemawa friends a week or so ago while enroute to Perrydale, in Polk county, where Mr. Dillstrom will have charge of a large dairy business. For the last two years Mr. Dillstrom has been in the service at Tulalip, Wash., under Dr. Buchanan. The proposition from Perrydale was such that he did not feel justified in turning it down. While here they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Cooper.

The visit of death is always a heart-rendering one and sad to chronicle. As a result of appendicitis Miss Phylis Cooper succumbed to the Dread Reaper on Feb. 14, at the Hospital in Salem. Interment was made in that city on Feb. 16 and the funeral was attended by numerous Chemawa friends. Phylis at the time of her death was in her fifteenth year, and the greater part of her life had been lived at Chemawa. Until a comparatively short time before her fatal illness she had always appeared strong and vigorous. The sincere sympathy of all our people are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and family.
