

Frank Peratrovich is now playing first cornet in the orchestra, and doing credit to the job, too.

Georgie Barrett, a prominent member of our printing force, spent the summer at his home in Katalla, Alaska, and returned full of energy and as fat as a bear.

Miss Ella Brewer, who holds a clerkship at Ft. Simcoe, recently visited her family and friends at Chemawa. We are pleased to state that she is well and has more than made good in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Bensall and family of Siletz were the guests of Mrs. Brewer and family for a week during the fore part of October. Mr. Bensall had charge of the Siletz exhibit at the State Fair in Salem.

Miss May, who last year held a matron's position at Chemawa, is now holding a similar position at the Cushman school at Tacoma, Wash. We are informed that she is getting along nicely and likes her new field of labor.

Among those from Chemawa who visited the Siletz Indian Fair last August were Supt. Wadsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Frachtenberg, Mrs. Doherty, Misses Brewer, White and Peters, and members of the string quartet. The quartet played a series of concerts over there and was well received. All speak highly of the fair.

Messrs. Devol, McLean and Mitchell constituted a party that visited the San Francisco exposition. They all speak well of the big fair. Mr. Steuber, also of Chemawa, made the trip to Frisco at a later date. Supt. Wadsworth passed through San Francisco early in July on a business trip and managed to get a glimpse of the exposition.

To Mr. Smith is due the credit for the establishment of a number of modern play ground-fixtures for the enjoyment and development of the little girls of Chemawa. The playground is established under the hemlock trees just north of the students' big diningroom. This will prove a feature well worth while, no matter from what view-point it is considered.

In August Mr. Kennedy took his troop of Indian Boy Scouts to the coast for a ten days' camping trip. A wagon carried bedding and provisions, while the boys took turns in hiking and riding. Passing through the Grand Ronde reservation they went over the mountains to Salmon River, and camped on the banks of the bay at its mouth. Mr. Kennedy, as Scout Master, appointed the details for camp duties, and all the boys gave cheerful obedience to the rules. The time was spent in fishing, rowing and swimming. For some of the boys, it was the first trip to the ocean. All enjoyed the outing, and are already making plans to earn money for a similar one next summer.
