

Not long ago Mr. Gillett arrived home from a trip to his old home in Michigan. He reports having noted but little change in that country during the years of his absence and states that he had a fine visit.

A letter recently received informs us that Mr. C. E. Frye, who at one time was in Chemawa in the capacity of wagon-maker, is now postmaster and storekeeper at Celilo, Oregon. Mr. Frye is doing nicely in his new field. He expects to visit us soon.

Mr. Loos and his band boys received much praise recently in Salem for their splendid playing. Marked attention is paid them wherever they appear, to the credit of the organization and Chemawa as well. We should all take pride in our band.

Playing one movement each Sunday evening, of the Symphony Militaire by Haydn, the orchestra recently completed the entire work of four movements. This is considered Haydn's greatest symphony and in many respects it is a most wonderful musical work.

Not long ago Supt. Fred C. Morgan of the Flathead Reservation, Montana, was Chemawa's guest for a few hours. All of us who have the good fortune to know Mr. Morgan, and of his many sterling qualities, like him and will be pleased to welcome him here at any time.

Our Halloween was observed with a dance in the big gym. The building was most artistically decorated for the occasion and a three-hour dance gave pleasure to all. It is with both pride and pleasure that we report that our boys and young men gave no evidence of rowdyism in any way whatever during the evening—either in the gym or out of it.

Not long ago the members of the string quartet paid a visit to Mt. Angel College where they played a pleasing program. They were astounded by what they saw at this fine institution of learning. The vastness and magnificence of the monastery they found to be far beyond their expectations. They were made at home by everyone at the institution and shown about the grounds and buildings. From Father Prior and Father Gall down everybody showed the quartet the utmost courtesy—royalty could not have been given a finer reception. They found it a real pleasure to play for those kindly people and it will give pleasure to every member of the quartet when they may again appear at Mt. Angel College, for it proved a visit that will never be forgotten by any member of the organization.
