

Turning then to one of his officers, he said: "Only cut off one of this fellow's feet.

ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT

While lecturing to a body of agriculture students at the Ohio State University, E. I. Root, a bee expert, placed a bee on his lip to show that it would not sting unless disturbed. But the bee queered the whole thing by apparently yielding to a sort of "artistic temperament" impulse and stinging the lecturer. In a short time his lips swelled to twice their normal size and he was obliged to discontinue his talk until another day.

WHICH ONE?

Young Hibbard was exhibiting some photographs to a charming society girl, with whom he was very much in love.

"This one," he said, handing her a picture, "is my photo with my two French poodles. Can you recognize me?"

"Why, yes, I think so," replied the young woman, looking intently at the picture. "You are the one with the hat on, are you not?"

ONLY ONCE

A visitor in a little town of Scotland, on looking about, saw no children, but only grown men and women. He wondered at this, and finally, meeting a weazened old man in the street, inquired: "How often are children born in this town?"

"Only once," the man replied, as he proceeded on his way.
