

We regret to state that at the time of going to press Miss Celestia Brace was a very ill young lady.

Recently Mr. Woods suffered a very severe hemorrhage and for awhile there was much apprehension for him. He bled at the nose for the greater part of a night and it seemed impossible to stop the flow of blood. However, at the time of going to press he was getting along nicely and was presumed to be out of danger.

The spring work has opened up for all of us. Some are planting vegetables, while others are sowing flower seeds. Still others are cleaning house, and some are "setting" eggs to raise chickens and ducks. All are busy, you see.

On March 17th Mr. Otis B. Goodall, supervisor of Indian schools, arrived at Chemawa on official business which occupied a couple of weeks of his time. Mr. Goodall recently transferred to this territory, which comprises the schools of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Prior to coming here he was supervisor of the Riverside, California, district, with work in Arizona and Nevada, as well as in California. It was unfortunate that Mr. Goodall should have been ill during his visit with us; so ill in fact, that he was compelled to ask for sick leave, and he went from here to California to recuperate. Mr. Goodall proved himself to be both kindly and capable and he will never want for friends at Chemawa. We all hope that he may recover his health speedily.

EXCELSIOR-RELIANCE PARTY

On the evening of March 25, the members of the Excelsior and Reliance societies met at the "gym" with invited guests and enjoyed one of the most successful parties of the season.

The hall was decorated with purple, gold, green and yellow crepe paper, pennants and evergreens in a tasty manner.

Until a late hour the guests and hosts skipped around the hall to the music of Mr. Brown's orchestra, then adjourned to the gallery where excellent refreshments were served under the able direction of Mrs. McCrosson, Mrs. Schillerstrom, and Miss Taylor, to which those in attendance did ample justice.

After hungers satisfied and thirsts quenched all retired to their quarters, pleased with the enjoyable evening spent with the members of the the boys' societies.
