PUPILS' ITEMS

Robert Alphas deserves much praise for the beautiful pennant which he made for the eighth grade.

Last Wednesday evening the Reliance Society had a fine program. There were a number of new members and we expect to get more in the future.

The eighth grade girls are cutting and making small boys' shirt waists for their lesson in the sewing-room.

The following pupils were promoted to the third grade: Agnes Bell, Margaret Nathlan, Adam Jackson, John Wilson.

The domestic science girls are busy again with the lunches for the students attending high school and business college in Salem.

Mr. Smith is again hard at work, drilling the boys in the gym. He is working on new games and folk dancing. He no doubt will give another program soon.

The Nonpareil Society held a meeting last Wednesday evening as usual. Instead of having a program, new officers were elected. We were glad to have as visitors Mrs. Loos and Mr. Brown.

The pupils at Chemawa have enjoyed a long feast of apples. It is about the longest in the history of Chemawa. Mr. Westley says that they will last about a week longer. Twenty bushels a day for six months represents a big crop of apples for an Indian school.

The Excelsiors had charge of the Monday morning chapel exercises, January 8th. The following program was given: Declamation, Robert Service; Italian Harp Solo, Sherman Leone; Indian Legends, Albert Wilson; Song, Excelsior Quartet. Russell Adams, president of the Excelsiors, took charge of the exercises.

PUPIL'S INDUSTRIAL ITEMS

Chester Bravo is spoken of as being a very reliable boy in the shoe shop.

George Jackson, a vocational tailor, has been taking his first lesson in trousers cutting.

Mr. Swoboda is very much pleased with the improvement Archie Freestone is making in his work.

Mr. Brown and his prevocational boys have been building additions to the back porches of the Brewer and Sanders' home.

Much needed repairs have been made on the walk in front of the employees' cottages as well as the one leading to the barns.

The shoe and harness department welcomes Roy Frazier as a vocational student in that shop. Roy has just returned to Chemawa.

Sixteen sets of harness have been completed and five more are nearing completion. These are to be sent to different points in Arizona.

The prevocational carpenter boys have been repairing the gates around the hospital as well as making various repairs at the dairy barn.
