

LOCALS

The girls of Winona Hall are organizing a Camp Fire Club.

Mr. George Ball, blacksmith, and family, left on Saturday for Hardin, Montana.

Fred Cardin favored the audience at chapel Sunday with a violin solo, "Souvenir." It was much appreciated.

Mr. W. H. Mullikan, of Loleta, California, has received probationary appointment as dairyman at this school.

The dairyman with his force of boys is getting out posts for the purpose of fencing in the inundated land below the barns.

All companies of students are showing improvement in their drilling. The time is drawing near for the competitive drills.

The school orchestra under Mr. Turney rendered the Overture "Ladoiska" by Cherubini at Sunday night chapel. Chemawa is proud of its orchestra.

Aurelius Talbot writes that he has been assigned to duty on the U. S. — — Saratoga. Nick Orloff writes also that he is at the training school at San Francisco.

Mr. Daly and his farm boys have cleared an additional four-acre tract of land of its stumps in the wood lot south of the cemetery and are now putting it in condition for potato planting.

The Alumni will render a play called "Tatters" on Friday evening next in the auditorium. The members of this play are rehearsing daily and a good entertainment is in store for those who attend.

Girls of Company D, of Winona Hall, deserve especial mention for the way they march and for their neat appearance generally. Company C girls will have to bestir themselves or D will surpass them.

William Walters writes that himself, Lawrence Taylor and Charles Eder are at the Naval Training School, San Francisco, and getting along finely. He says that the navy is no place for a loafer or an unwilling worker; that it takes lots of "pep" to succeed. He sends regards to all.

The seventh grade students, about 50 in number, gave their annual class party in the gym Friday night. The various classes at Chemawa always take pride in doing things just right and none more so than the seventh, and this party was no exception. Games of all kinds were indulged in and a fine time was had by all. Bounteous refreshments were served. Mrs. Brace is the teacher of this grade and Roy Nuckolls is class president.

REPORTER'S NOTES

Robert Downie

The boys of the Excelsior Society are planning for their annual reception. It is expected that this function will be soon.

Your reporter in visiting the sewing department found the girls of the eighth grade making table cloths, napkins and towels with fancy hems.

Irving Shepard is some athlete. The Grant Junior High School of Salem, of which Irving is a member, depend upon him to be a strong factor in their athletic contests.

Mrs. Teabo was hostess to the Crochet Club last week. She is a good entertainer and the members had a most pleasant time. Miss Sara Brewer will entertain at the next meeting.

Good weather on Wednesday enabled our 'varsity baseball team to go to Mt. Angel by auto to cross bats with the college team, the first game of the season. The boys appeared in their new and nifty uniforms, which were made in our tailoring department.

Owing to the withdrawal of so many of our older fellows who have gone to war, there has been a general promotion of boys from Brewer Hall. This has separated many roommates, as the changes were made according to the standing of each boy in his company.

Final demonstration examinations occupy the attention of the industrial departments just now, for which much preparation is being made. The inspectors have been appointed to make the preliminary examinations and the pupils are exhibiting no little interest.

Alex Melovidov, who plays second violin in the string quartet, is devoting every spare moment practicing and getting ready for the summer tour east. The quartet expects to be gone about six months. All of the members of the quartet are in fine fettle. A concert will be given in the Chemawa auditorium on the 29th.

Marie Shaishinikoff, Mae Adams and Martha Sprague attended the Y. W. C. A. conference at McMinnville College on Saturday and Sunday as delegates from Chemawa. These young ladies sang several songs at the different meetings; these songs were well sung and appreciated by the convention. Mrs. McCrossen accompanied the girls. These delegates report an enjoyable trip and brought back many helpful suggestions for their association.
