

3 MAY 8
COPY 1956

The Chemawa American

Printed at Chemawa, Oregon, and Devoted to the Interests of Indian Education

Vol. XX

Wednesday, October 24, 1917

No. 2

VISITING OFFICIALS

The Chemawa faculty entertained the visiting officials who are attending a conference in connection with the new accounting system held by Mr. S. A. Councilor, of the U. S. Bureau of Efficiency, accompanied by his wife and little son Jim, and Special Agent Roblin, on Thursday evening last.

The evening was spent in social conversation and dancing. One end of the gym was ingeniously fitted with rugs, easy chairs, small tables and decorations. Refreshments were bountifully served during the evening. The committee of arrangements, composed of Mr. E. A. Smith, Mrs. I. S. Loos and Miss Sarah Brewer, handled the affair in their usual efficient manner and all had an enjoyable time and took advantage of the occasion to get better acquainted with the visitors.

SUPERINTENDENT SWARTZLANDER'S EXHIBIT

The Umatilla exhibit at the State Fair this year, being the only Indian exhibit from the reservations, was presided over by Mr. Siebert, farmer. Supt. Swartzlander sent a splendid array of agricultural products, Indian handicraft and fine needlework done by the Umatilla school girls. Three booths were occupied and the articles were displayed to the best advantage.

It was a very unusual exhibit and was the center of much interest. On account of the bad season for crops other reservations which heretofore were represented were unable to make a display.

COACH WARNER

Mr. W. J. Warner, Chemawa's football coach, arrived at the school on Sunday. He was met by the entire squad of players who gave him a rousing reception as he alighted from the train. Mr. Warner coached our team last year and brought it up to a high standard in a very short time, and as practically all of the old players are here we look for great success the balance of the season.

Mr. Warner is the brother of "Pop" Warner, Carlisle's famous football coach. While William J. does not have the national reputation of his brother, yet he is considered in every way his equal.

DINING ROOM

Chemawa boasts of the most homelike and attractive as well as best regulated dining hall in the Service. It is now practically filled and new students are arriving daily. A more inspiring sight than this beautiful dining hall filled with such an orderly and well behaved student body is difficult to imagine. Six students are seated at each table, three boys and three girls—a happy, fine appearing body of young people of which Chemawa is justly proud.

LOCAL

Mr. Everett is drawing plans for a new cottage for the Superintendent.

Mrs. Brace is acting as principal pending the arrival of a new appointee.

The left-overs in the pumpkin field were hauled to the dairy barn to be fed to the cows.

Eggs are somewhat scarce in this locality and those to be had sell at 60 cents per dozen.

Cards are received daily from our boys on various battleships and from the training camps.

The first five weeks' detail ended on Sunday. A general change in the prevocationals took place Monday.

Have you seen the art room in Mitchell Hall? It is well worth a visit. Mrs. Loos has placed on display quantities of fancy needlework pieces and so arranged them as practically to fill the room.

The Superintendent anticipates purchasing a caterpillar to cost about $2,000. Such a tractor is able to do the work of five teams. At present Chemawa has sixteen head of work stock. A caterpillar would enable about ten head to be dispensed with.

Mr. and Mrs. Loos entertained on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Councilor, using the Club reception parlor for the affair. Mrs. Loos is a charming hostess and invariably gives her guests a delightful time. Mrs. Councilor received the guest prize, consisting of a beautiful pair of Alaskan moccasins; Mrs. Pendergrass first prize and Mrs. Henderson the booby prize. The refreshments were ice cream, cake and cocoa, and mints served at small tables.