The sum of $286.54 comprises the Christmas fund at present.

Charles Brazille, a returned sailor, was a visitor on the campus last week.

A complete change in the detail for both girls and boys took place on Monday.

The new barn is rapidly assuming shape. It will not be many days before it will be ready for occupancy.

Those who have automobiles can now inflate the tires at the new free air station in front of the power house.

The Chemawa printing office is printing a calendar for Superintendent Babcock of Warm Spring Agency, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, of Salem, attended the basket social as guests of Superintendent and Mrs. Hall.

Three little girls who came from the far north a few days ago had never seen apples until their arrival at Chemawa.

Mitchell Hall and McBride Hall are quite resplendent with the new rugs and carpets in the front halls and stairways.

Thurman Black, a returned sailor and graduate of Haskell Institute, is at Chemawa visiting his classmate, Miss Brunette.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Kuckup of Warm Spring Agency, both of whom were in the first class that graduated at Chemawa in 1885, were welcome visitors last week.

The rooms now occupied by the employes in the Winona Hall will be converted into clothing rooms just as soon as the quarters in Cottage Hall are furnished.

Prof. John R. Sites, head of the musical department of Willamette University, and Mrs. Sites were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turney at the basket social Saturday evening.

The friends of Miss Ruth Brewer were greatly interested in viewing her picture which appeared in the Oregonian last Sunday in connection with her work at O. A. C.

Thus far the present school year, with a larger enrollment than for a good many years, there has been less sickness in the hospital than ever before for this time of the year.

Miss Gertrude Eakin is filling the position of teacher lately vacated by Mrs. Baxter. Miss Alice Judd will enter on duty next Monday as teacher of the adult primary grade.

Material for basketball is being selected for both boys and girls. Active practice will commence immediately after Thanksgiving. We have a wealth of good material to pick from.

Chemawa plays the redoubtable University of Oregon football team on our field next Saturday afternoon. On Thanksgiving Day we play the Oregon City Athletic Club at Oregon City.

Mr. Daly keeps the tractor going throughout the working hours. It does the work of eight horses. It is expected that all grain and hay land will be seeded this month. Fall plantings are more satisfactory than spring sowing in the Willamette Valley.

Mr. Force is putting the new sterilizer at the hospital into shape, making electrical connections. Minor operations are in abeyance until this needed accessory to the operating room is finished.

Chemawa has a magnificent student body this year. The students seem to have come to school to get the best we have and they mean business. With that spirit manifested it is a joy to work.

Mr. Loos who has been away on school business for some time returned last week. We are glad to have him back and his time is much employed getting the band and mandolin club thoroughly organized.

Joe Bettles is a busy young man these days looking after the hogery and the dairy. He has about 150 hogs and pigs to look after at the hogery. Seventy-two of them, however, will soon be ready for market.

A new garage is being constructed in the rear of the campus with a capacity for three automobiles. There are nine garages at Chemawa. Two more garages will be constructed for the new cottages on the west side of the campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson gave valuable assistance at the basket social Saturday evening. Mr. Henderson sold two kegs of sweet cider and turned over $15 profits to the Christmas fund. Mrs. Henderson assisted throughout the evening at different booths.

While in Portland last week Mrs. Loos purchased a splendid set of furniture for the lobby in Mitchell Hall. The boys should be proud of the added appearance to their well-kept home. The trophy and reading room is much enjoyed by the young men.

The chapel services last Sunday evening were of unusual interest. The orchestra played the "Dance of the Dervishes" by Cohen, Russell Adams sang "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" by Burleigh, Carrie Anderson recited "Wheedling Grandma," The Octette Girls sang a Scotch song, "Lassie o' Mine" by Walt, Eleanor Hauk gave a reading of her own selection, the choir sang "As We've Sown so Shall We Reap" by Davis, and Supt. Hall closed the exercises with a talk in which he gave a "recipe for success" and which proved to have been carefully and ably thought out. We hope to publish his splendid talk in our next issue.

Each of the divisions composing the first year vocational class in domestic science gave a formal dinner to especially invited guests as a fitting close to their first ten weeks detail in that department under Mrs. Brickell last week. On Tuesday evening the hostesses were Erma LeClaire and Anna LaRance. Henrietta Chamberlin and Mary Damon did the serving while the entire division had a part in the preparation of the dinner. On Wednesday the other division entertained, with Ida Brown and Sarah Adams as hostesses, and Jessie Cleveland served, the classes preparing the dinner. Mrs. Brickell, domestic science teacher, as well as the classes merit commendation for the splendid exhibition showing the work in this department.
