Winona

The Winona posters for last week bore Thanksgiving decorations and the program on Friday night was one for that holiday season. Lucy Sexton and Josephine Corbett each gave appropriate recitations, Hattie Martin and Delora Keeler gave a "morning-after" dialogue, and Maggie Gardipe gave pen pictures. Catherine Reed read an allegorical theme, Maude Hey brought in the current events, Esther Blodgett the jokes, Josephine Corbett, Florence Gensaw and Maude Craig each sang a solo. Mildred Hoover played the mandolin as a substitute number for absent numbers. Two new features in the musical line were a mouth harp solo by Emma Carlson and the music of the "Car-nation Orchestra." The color song closed a very pleasant program.

CHEMAWA VS. OREGON CITY AMERICAN LEGION

Chemawa's football warriors closed their schedule on Thanksgiving Day at Oregon City where they beat the undefeated American Legion of that place by a score of 7 to 0.

A large and enthusiastic crowd attended the contest. The score itself indicates a close and hard-fought game. After a series of forward passes and end runs our team carried the ball over the American Legion's line early in the third quarter and kicked goal—for the only score in the game.

Several ex-Chemawa students now residing and working in Portland and Oregon City witnessed the game and cheered our boys on to victory. Russell Adams, graduate, and former Chemawa football star, umpired the game.

Coaches Sanders and Hauser, and Manager George Bent accompanied the team on the trip. Irving Shepard also went along as usual and acted in the capacity of head linesman at the game. Yell leader Barrett who remained here to assist in the pit at the services in the auditorium arrived in time to see the last half of the game.

ATHLETIC NOTES

Basketball practice for the girls is now well under way. Several of last year's varsity members have reported for practice and a number of others give promise to make strong contenders for places on the team if they work to gain their position again this year.

First call for the varsity basketball tossers has been issued. Several of the letter men of last year's team will report to practice. Reggie Downie has returned and will act in the capacity of assistant coach in all branches of athletics. Nix, a guard, will be found at his old stand. Our outlook for a winner is good.

The second call for basketball will be issued Thursday when those wishing to join the basketball league to be organized will register.

LOCAL

Brewer Hall, one of Chemawa's oldest buildings, is being dolled-up with a new coat of brown and white by Mr. Sanders and his painters.

Mr. Mudge has just completed the shoe brush and polish case at the stand of Brewer Hall. It is a handy and was very much-needed fixture. Has anyone noticed our shoes shining?

Mr. Charles E. Larson, wife and child, are here from Tacoma, Washington, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turney. Mr. Larsen is an old ex-student and employe of Chemawa, and is enroute to the Siletz Agency to act as chief clerk.

The Excelsior Literary Society and the Nonpareil Literary Society held a joint meeting on November 28th, 1919. The special number on the program was a debate, "Resolved, That Military Training Should be Universal." The negative won by two points.

Messrs. Stewart, Carrow, and forces have annexed to the rear of Brewer Hall a first-class concrete drain. We now say good-bye to the water that used to accumulate at the back of these quarters and run down the side to slop up our walks and grounds. Thanks to these gentlemen.

Louise Silverthorne was leader of the Y.W.C.A. meeting held on Sunday, using the topic "Girls' sense of Honor." After each member responded to the roll call with Bible verses, different members gave brief talks on the topic. The meeting was closed with the song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and the watchword.

The girls of McBride Hall regret to lose Mrs. Cox as their house mother. She has been temporarily employed here for over a year and during that time has endeared herself to all. She is a good matron and not only maintains sensible discipline but makes McBride Hall a real home to the one hundred girls who have quarters therein. It is a real loss to Chemawa.

Mr. Joseph E. James, our estimable and efficient tailor, has handed in his resignation to take effect December 31st. All Chemawa regrets that the James' are to leave, for they certainly are a comfortable and nice family to have within our employe circle. However, Mr. James is offered more than double the salary he receives here and feels that he should accept.

The chapel services last Sunday evening were most pleasing in every way. The orchestra played "Intermezzo Russe" by Franke, Marina Nelson sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile" by Ray, Virginia Brickell gave a reading entitled "How We Woke Ike," the choir sang "Tell It Out" by McPhail, and Supt. Hall concluded the exercises of the evening with an unusually fine talk. His theme for discussion was a most timely one here at the school and was of live interest. We hope to publish it in our next issue.
