LITERARY SOCIETIES

Reliance

On October 8, 1920, the Reliance Literary Society opened promptly at seven o'clock with a good attendance of old members. Five new members were admitted to the society.

Most of the evening was spent in reviewing the constitution, and discussion of old and new business for the good of the society.

After giving songs and yells the meeting adjourned.

Winona

The Winonas enjoyed a new "Winona Quartet" on Friday evening. Maud Craig, Annabelle Woods, Emma Carlson and Madeline Wilder were the members and the singing was especially good. Lucy Sexton, Lillian Gauthier and Viola Beyers gave an amusing dialogue. Josephine Corbett contributed some jokes. Emma Carlson gave a mouthharp number and several volunteer selections were added to the regular program. Some good talks were given by the older members on the selection of officers. The usual song and cheer period was indulged in and it was time for adjournment. The old president, Julia Gromoff, was in the chair.

Excelsior

The regular meeting of the Excelsior Literary Society was held in the academic building in room 7 with Vice-president Corbett in the chair. The purpose of the meeting was for the election of officers for the coming term. The following were elected: President, Logan Fann; vice-president, Cruz McDaniel; secretary, Robert Downie; treasurer George Barrett; sergeant-at-arms, Irving Hendrix; reporter, F. P. Corbett. Following their election each officer gave a short, snappy talk in regard to society work. A veteran member of the Excelsiors, in the person of Mr. Downie, was present and gave us a good talk on loyalty. After a few yells and songs the society adjourned.

SENIOR NOTES

Mabel Blodget and Catherine Loftus substituted in the fifth grade during Miss Roberts' absence.

The seniors are glad to welcome Beulah White, Opal Pearson, Clara Morais and Daniel Orton to the class of '21.

Clarence Edwards had the highest average for the first period of the year and Elizabeth and Ellen Beall followed closely.

Catherine Loftus and Lewis Colby each gave numbers on the class program on Friday and the entire class joined in the business meeting and class songs.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The members of the I.T.C. are all proud possessors of kahki covered New Testaments, which were presented to them last Tuesday night as a gift from W. P. Walters, County Y.M.C.A. Secretary.

Sunday afternoon the Y.W.C.A. held an interesting discussion meeting, using the topic, "My ideal for the Y.W.C.A. for 1920-21." Practically all the girls present took part in the discussion and some very practical plans for campus service were presented.

On Monday evening the L. L. L. Chapter of the Y.W.C.A. initiated twenty-one new members. More than half of the membership of last year have been graduated into the senior Y.W.C.A. But with the addition of these new girls the membership now totals about fifty. The following officers were also installed: Maude Craig, president; Romona Tripp, vice-president; Charlotte Bremner, secretary; Cora Black, treasurer; Susan Trapp, sergeant-at-arms.

A large and enthusiastic crowd of young people gathered in the auditorium Sunday evening for the first joint meeting of the Christian Association of the year. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Ralph McAfee, Secretary of the Portland Federation of Churches, a great favorite with the Chemawa boys at Seabeck Conference. Mr. McAfee spoke on our country's need for more religion and the part of the Christian Associations in meeting this need. Two splendid musical numbers, a cornet solo by Mr. Bent and a 'cello solo by George Barrett, added much to the attractiveness of the evening's program. Mr. McAfee stated that in all the Y.M.C.A.'s he had visited in the Northwest, he had never heard as excellent music as he heard at Chemawa.

LOCAL

At 2 p. m. next Saturday we will meet the Willamette University eleven on our own gridiron. This will be our first game this season and we hope to win. While not underrating Willamette, we believe we have a good team ourselves—better even than Willamette. Saturday will put the matter off the uncertainty list.

On Monday evening the senior domestic science girls gave a demonstration dinner in their department. The guest of honor was Mrs. Lylah Jaquins of Los Angeles, and other guests were Supt. and Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. James, and Mrs. Canfield. It was a seven-course dinner, and like all such affairs, was, owing to the efficient supervision of Mrs. Brickell, most enjoyable and regular in every detail. This was the first course dinner given by these girls this year.

Last evening the home of Supt. and Mrs. Hall was the scene of an informal gathering in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Jaquins, who will soon depart for her home in Los Angeles after quite a delightful visit of some weeks at Chemawa. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Aldrich and Dr. and Mrs. John R. Sites of Salem. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening. Supt. and Mrs. Hall are most happy in the role of host and hostess and whole-hearted hospitality awaits at their threshold. This was a memorable occasion.
