

DEFEAT AND FAILURE

(Continued from page 1)

So, students, if any of you here are deluding yourself with the belief that somehow, some way, something will turn up to improve your condition without effort on your part, you are making a tremendous mistake and losing precious time. Nothing will come to you except through your own labor, your own efforts, and much depends upon how you employ your time right now. The better you work the greater the results, the more you will secure, for the student who can grit his teeth and go at it alone whether he receives encouragement or not, who with or without the approval of his classmates can go ahead or turn back, is the one who gets there and is also the fellow the whole world is after.

It is the one with courage and determination who wins the prize. There is always room at the top for the man or woman who will stamp their own mark of individuality or superiority or distinctiveness upon whatever they do. Such an one need have no fear of many rivals.

GENERAL ITEMS

Goodness! How time flies! Our athletic almanac begins already to suggest looking for baseball bats, balls and mits.

Miss Virginia Goodman of Tacoma, Wash., was at Chemawa last week visiting relatives. While here she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders.

Edward Dupuis, a former student, paid the school a short visit last week. He is now married and living in Oregon City. He reports that he is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Marie L. Bottineau Baldwin, LL.B., LL.M., Washington College of Law, Washington, D. C., a Chippewa Indian, is an active member of the College Women's Club at the National Capital.

Of late details of boys have been blasting stumps out and clearing up the land east of the hospital. When cleared this land will be a valuable addition to our cultivated area, as the soil is very fine.

This is the season of the year when much pruning of orchards is in progress. This is work wherein considerable care should be exercised, as bad pruning will do more damage than good. Those who prune should know what they are doing.

For the past week or so Albert Spearson and George Thomas have been busy at repair work in Mitchell Hall. They are good hustlers and good workmen in the line of carpentry and the repairs and improvements they have made is greatly appreciated by all the boys of that building.

Little Reuben Sanders has had a serious time of it of late. He is just now recovering from quite a delicate surgical operation which took place at a Salem Hospital. This little fellow has been unfortunate and has been compelled to submit to several operations in his few years of life, but it is now thought and hoped that he is on the way to a speedy recovery and perfect health.

THE HIGH SCHOOL FRESHMAN

Last Thursday evening was the time set for the open session of the Reliance Literary Society and they chose to entertain their guests with the presentation of "The High School Freshman." The boys really did splendidly from beginning to end and merited the liberal applause they received. Following is the cast of characters:

- Harry Templeton (a freshman) - - - - A. Shepard
- Will Thornton (a senior) - - - - C. Edwards
- Jack Morrell (a football coach) - - - - L. Colby
- James Clarke (a reckless broker's son) - - - - E. Therriault
- Charles Jackson (a yell leader) - - - - R. Nuckolls
- Sam Belton (a western student) - - - - F. Wilder
- Julius Cohen (a freshman from the Bronx) - - - - C. Buchert
- Lew Sampson (Clarke's tool) - - - - W. Frazier
- Orrie Morton (a small town dude) - - - - J. Racine
- Si Harness (a country by-product) - - - - J. Hansen
- Ben Castle (who thinks study a bore) - - - - E. Liljegren
- Ross Finnerty (an Irish youngster) - - - - W. Kennedy

The following entertaining specialties were given between the acts:

- Opening Song - - - - - Members
- Saxophone Solo - - - - - A. Shepard
- Cornet Solo - - - - - F. Peratrovich
- Reliance Quartet - - - - -
- A. Shepard, W. Kennedy, F. Peratrovich, A. Johnson
- Recitation - - - - - W. Frazier
- Accordion Solo - - - - - G. Nix

DOMESTIC SCIENCE NOTES

The cooks for the past week were Lena Cleveland for B Division and Lucy Yandall for A Division.

The first to occupy our guest rooms since they have been painted were four men of the O.A.C. Freshmen team.

The domestic science girls were up early Wednesday and cooked a very nice breakfast for the O. A. C. freshmen team.

The freshmen and sophomore girls have had their domestic science examinations for this semester. Of the first year vocational class the following received the highest marks: Hattie Cayton, Maude Potts and Stella Grimes.

On Tuesday last the Sophomores cooked and served a delicious dinner to the Freshmen team of O.A.C. It was reported that the dinner was a success. Jessie Cleveland and Lillian Gauthier did the serving and were highly complimented.