EXCELSIORS ENTERTAIN

Last Friday evening the members of the Excelsior Literary Society entertained the various members of the faculty and student body with a program of more than ordinary merit. Preliminary to the playlet given the boys pulled off a number of stunts which were both amusing and clever. The decoration of the society's heroes was a scream, especially where Mr. Bent, honorary member, was declared a Knight of the Order of Onion and rapturously kissed on both cheeks by George Barrett, himself a knight of royal blood.

"The Mascot" was the title of the play given and those who assumed the role of the various characters called for in the cast acquitted themselves most creditably.

All through the evening there was music by the Excelsior band under the direction of Cruz McDaniels, who proved himself a conductor deserving recognition. The band was good and the music was most pleasing, as it was capably rendered.

All in all, it was an evening to be remembered for some time and credit is due to both the Excelsior Society and advisor, Miss Hendrix. Such entertainments mean a lot of work.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. met in Mitchell Hall on the evening of the 13th of February. The leader for the evening was Arthur Johnson. The topic was "The Sincerity of Jesus Christ" taken from the "Manhood of the Master." The following program was rendered: Song by members; What is a hypocrite, Fred Wilder; Explanation of contradiction in Matt. 5:16 and Matt. 6:1, Frank Corbett; What habits of insincere speech do we fall into, Cruz McDaniels. Short talks were also given by Allan Shepard, Robert Downie and others.

OUR CHAPEL SERVICE

During chapel service last Sunday evening Supt. Hall gave a strong talk in which he appealed to the students to obey their best instincts in all things. He emphasized the fact that all have within them a wee voice which always "points the way" and is a monitor worthy of a hearing. It was a good talk. During the evening the orchestra played "Kuiawiak" by Wieniawski, on request Julia Gromoff gave "The Americans Come" by Foster, the Octette Girls sang "The Flag Without a Stain" by White, and George Lekanoff and the choir sang "The Haven of Life" by Bristow. The exercises were in every way most pleasing.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Irving Shepard completed his required senior credits in the Salem High School last week.

It is reported that the high school students all received good grades in their semester exams.

Irving Shepard, Clarence Adams, George Lekanoff, Logan Fann and Charles Eder took part in the Excelsior play last week.

The university, business college and high school students are glad to see the junior girls back in the domestic science, for they certainly put up appetizing lunches.

The high school students enjoyed a few days' vacation last week. Thursday and Friday were given them in which to register for the new semester. The university and business college students were not so fortunate and had to work as usual.

We are pleased again to hear the reports of Frank Peratrovich and Clarence Adams in their recent commercial law test at the Capital Business College. Frank received 99 percent and Clarence 90. This goes to show that our students are studying hard.

SENIOR NOTES

With the aid of the microscope the seniors are finding botany an interesting subject.

The main topic in algebra is Geographical Representation. The seniors are finding it quite interesting.

The Senior Jazz Orchestra has been doing some stiff practicing of late. They will make their debut in the near future.

Busy times are ahead for the seniors, preparing for the declamation contest. Six contestants are now in the field and all are trying to be one of the four to represent the class. We have several competitors of former contests.

At a meeting recently held by the seniors the following officers were elected to fill offices for the balance of the year: Edwin Liljegren, president; Louis Colby, vice-president; Clara Morais, secretary; Clarence Edwards, treasurer; Mabel Blodgett, sergeant-at-arms; William Frazier, reporter; Roy Nuckolls, yell leader.
