Eleanor Hauk entertained the ladies of the Eastern Star with one of her humorous readings on Friday afternoon.

A Salem photographer was at Chemawa on Saturday making pictures of the various organizations for the senior annual.

Last Monday our track men held the first real try-out of the season in preparation for the track meet against U. of O. at Eugene Saturday.

Our team will be given the real test of the season next Saturday when it goes against the O.A.C. Rooks at Corvallis. The Freshmen claim the best team they ever had.

In Friday's baseball game at Newburg, Roy Nuckolls pulled a "Babe Ruth" stunt by slamming the ball out of the polo grounds, bringing in two men and himself crossing the home plate for the first home run of the season.

The Protestant preaching service last Sunday afternoon was conducted by Reverend Mr. Clyde, pastor of the First Congregational church of Corvallis. He spoke very interestingly to the young people on the necessity of reaching the highest ideals of manhood and womanhood.

Elizabeth Montgomery writes a very satisfactory and encouraging letter concerning her training at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland. Her letter has the right ring to it. While her work is most difficult and at times discouraging, yet she has the persistency and tenacity of purpose to stick. She will receive her diploma next year.

Owing to an over-abundance of "copy" we were obliged to condense much of the matter that reached us for this issue, and some that came in last we were compelled to leave out altogether, society notes, for instance. From such data as was handed in we are certain that the societies enjoyed profitable meetings—their programs proved it.

The 'cello playing of George Barrett in chapel last Sunday evening when he gave as a solo the "Song of India" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, was both a surprise and a delight to all present. It means a lot of good, solid work to give such a rendition, and from memory, too. He has done exceptionally good work during the past year and is now getting commensurate results.

The new "Y" room was formally opened by a reception given recently to the employees by the cabinets of both associations. The room was prettily decorated with Oregon Grape and wild currant. The presidents of both associations expressed their thanks to Supt. Hall for his fine co operation and generosity in giving the room. A short musical program was also given.

All Chemawa regrets that Father Gall is not in good health. The good Father, however, in spite of his indisposition makes his regular visits and looks after the spiritual welfare of his flock.

Some time ago we were obliged to buy a new feed pump for our power plant because of the excessive cost of rebuilding the one in service. At that time our machine shop was not in service and for that reason we were forced to buy a new pump. Now the machinists have taken the pump and will rebuild it and when finished will have a pump in all respects as good as new, thus saving $250 for our school.

The Y. W. C. A. had an excellent discussion meeting Sunday afternoon, using the topic, "How and What to Read." Harriet Cain was leader of the meeting. "What parts of a newspaper are worth reading?" was discussed by Effie Davis, "The value of reading history" by Tacoma Snyder, "The value of biography" by Rose Gray, "Poets that have inspired me" by Eleanor Hauk, "Getting the most out of our reading" by Julia Gromoff. Special music was given by the Y. W. chorus.

The boys of the Reliance Literary Society gave their annual party on Saturday evening last, which was delightfully planned in every way for the enjoyment of the 125 persons present. The big gym was a veritable labyrinth of hanging draperies and plants, with booths on either side for serving of cold beverages. One end of the hall was latticed off for cloak room and refreshments. An orchestra from Portland furnished music for the occasion. Altogether the society gave a splendid party which is the subject of favorable comment of all who attended.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE NOTES

Supt. Hall bought some new linen for our department—a dinner set. We were glad to get it as we needed it. It is a beautiful pattern.

"A" division went out for a picnic the first of the week, in the afternoon after all the class work was done. We had our supper out in the woods and had a good time, but came home tired.

We recently had a visitor to our department who is a graduate of one of the Agricultural Schools in Kansas. She spent some time watching our work and was very complimentary regarding the way we work. Such encouragement is always helpful.

We are already preparing for our demonstration week. Several of the girls are making paper flowers of different kinds for decorations. We are taking up "Table and Dining-Room Service" so as to put it into practice at our every-day meals. After that comes meats, gelatines and meat substitutes. These are what we must demonstrate.
