Had we accepted all applications Chemawa would have over 800 eligible students.

The library is open every evening from 6 to 8 and the boys make full use of the privilege.

Work in every department of the school is progressing finely and pupils are showing much interest.

Study hour is from 8 to 9 of evenings. The school seems deserted during that hour, everything is so quiet.

Mrs. Alice Mayer, of Spokane, Wash., entered on duty as assistant matron Monday, being a probational appointee.

The farmers have dug and stored in the root house nearly three thousand bushels of splendid potatoes and the end is not yet.

We play the Portland Arleta Athletic Club team next Saturday on the Chemawa grounds. It is said that the visitors are a husky lot of players.

Mr. Iliff inspected a couple of car loads of bridge timber at Molalla and one car at Silverton the other day for the Indian Department, to be shipped to Arizona.

Supervisor W. W. Coon arrived on Monday and is with us on an official inspection of the school. Mr. Coon's territory covers the states of Washington, Oregon and California.

Huckleberry Finn featured the movie last Saturday night. It was thoroughly enjoyed by the student body. The impromptu orchestra, led by Wallace Beebe, furnished music for the occasion.

Cruz McDaniels left on Monday to join Miss Hendrix at the Indian school near Delores, Colorado. Cruz has been a good student and he will be missed in the musical circles of Chemawa.

The football game on Saturday between Chemawa and the Salem High School brought out a good crowd from Salem. Our team was too much for the High School. The result was 14-0 in our favor. Coach Downie is much encouraged over the progress made by the inexperienced players on his squad.

During chapel exercises on Sunday evening the orchestra played "In Happy Moments" by Wallace, a chorus of boys sang "Soldiers of the Captain" by Spohr, Joyce Simmon gave a recitation—The Wind—the choir sang "He Careth for Me" by Bemis, and Supt. Hall gave an unusually able talk in which he admonished our young people to be moral in every sense of the word—in high ideals, correct aims, the formation of good habits, of steadfastness of purpose. It was a talk on sound sense lines that could not fail to benefit all. The exercises were all of great interest and value.

Two Senior carpenters are putting the finishing touches on the new cottage on the "West Side."

The Junior and Senior girls were the moving spirits in the farewell reception given to Mrs. Moody, the McBride Hall house mother, on Thursday evening. Superintendent and Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Brickell and Miss Tyrrell, the new house mother, were the guests. Mrs. Moody has made many friends among the girls and they regret to have her leave.

FOOTBALL

Every season our athletic coaches face the problem of breaking in and training new material for our teams just the same as other schools. This year when school opened and our training season began the squad was without even one varsity man around whom to build a team. Finally George Nix, tackle, and Dewey Sampson, halfback, decided to return and continue their studies and so far they are the only two men with varsity experience to lead the rest of our youngsters on the field.

Two weeks ago the team went to O. A. C., and although out-classed and out-weighted considerably, played plucky ball till the final whistle and stood up mighty well against the terrific line plunges and end runs of O. A. C.'s two hundred and ten pounders. Because of their youth, light weight and inexperience O. A. C. had little difficulty in making long gains and piling up the score till the boys got over their stage fright then they held the big fellows to two touchdowns in the last half.

Our back field was unable to advance the ball against the strong O. A. C. defense, yet they made some brilliant attempts.

Joe Bettles made several long spiral punts and in spite of the line breaking through and hurrying his kicks every one was gotten off nicely.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The last meeting of the intermediate branch of the Y. M. C. A., otherwise known as the Climbers Club, was an unusually interesting one. After a brief song and devotional service, four boys who were in Alaska near Mt. Katmai at the time of its eruption a few years ago, told of their experience in the vicinity of this volcano. The talks were most instructive and interesting. Those participating on the program were Lawrence Davis, Eli Karabelnikoff, Alex Petellin and George Chya.

Last Sunday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. held its first discussion of this year. Service was the theme of the meeting. Rebecca Carpenter spoke on Service to children; Katie Cleveland on Service in the Sunday School; Anna Holst on Service to the church; Rose Gray on Service to our community; and Frances Fitzpatrick on Service to the sick. After the program a short business session was held, at which time Josephine Corbett was elected president to succeed Esther Paul, who is not returning to school, and Rebecca Carpenter was elected chairman of the social committee. This is membership week in the Y. W. C. A. and the contest for new members is interesting a large group of girls.
