

LOCAL

During the past few mornings we've had quite a touch of frost—even a little ice.

Mr. Iliff has been very much occupied of late inspecting lumber for the Indian Schools of the Southwest.

Mrs. Ada B. Millican, State Chairman of the Indian Welfare Committee of Federated Womens' Clubs of Oregon, was a visitor last Monday.

Our fall-sown grain is up and looks splendid. It is seldom one sees a more even stand of grain and if all continues well with it we shall have a harvest of considerable size next summer.

The new cement walks around the quarters and hospital, long needed improvements, are completed. The mason detail will next lay walks in "Hall's Addition" and finish that section of the campus.

Mr. W. P. Campbell, at one time Assistant Superintendent at Chemawa, called upon Supt. Hall, Sunday. This is the first time he had visited the school since he left ten or twelve years ago. His daughter and son accompanied him.

Mr. Henry Dillstrom motored to Chemawa last week from Klamath Agency, bringing a number of pupils with him for enrollment in our school. Mr. Dillstrom is a former student of Chemawa and is a credit to himself and his school. At present he is disciplinarian at Klamath and is getting along capitally. We were glad to have him visit us.

Patton and Wagar, of Salem, presented a rather unique entertainment in our auditorium, Friday night for a Christmas benefit, consisting of sleight of hand and magical stunts. The students enjoyed the evening immensely, especially the smaller ones, who are still wondering where the gold fish, guinea pigs, rabbits, parrot, etc., which were taken from under boys' coats, came from.

Our chapel services last Sunday evening were partly in observation of Armistice Day and were of the usual interest and excellence. The orchestra played a grand selection from "Maritana" by Wallace, Grace Morgeau sang "The Americans Come" by Foster, Carrie Anderson recited "Flanders' Field," Allan Shepard played as a double bass solo "Dear Old Pal of Mine" by Rice, Susan Cain recited "Vive La France," the choir sang two songs—"Joan of Arc" by Wells and "Keep the Home Fires Burning" by Novello. Supt. Hall gave a splendid talk on the line of work and duty in which he touched up the shirker and the indifferent person—the person who is always late on the job but who is an early quitter and who desires and expects a fat salary for his presence. A good talk, from the shoulder, too.

The school band led the parade in Salem on Armistice Day. It also furnished music in the Armory.

Chemawa is ever a revelation! The school grows while we sleep. In every way, from day to day, conditions improve. Ours is a great school now, but it will be greater.

Mr. Roy Bradley, supervisor of construction, is expected to arrive in Chemawa within a few days. He will have charge of the construction of the new dormitory for boys soon to be erected.

The recent frosts have proved an assistance in causing the leaves to fall rapidly so that we can clean up our yards. It usually is about Thanksgiving before all the leaves are down and Chemawa can boast a clean campus.

The committee to make the girls' detail is composed of Mrs. Iliff, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Brickell and Mrs. Canfield. The committee has given the selection of the various new details which go into effect next week much thought.

At a student body meeting held a few days ago considerable enthusiasm and "pep" were awakened. Grace Morgeau and Margaret Rinehart were appointed song leaders and Allan Shepard, Roy Courville and Lloyd Clements were selected as yell leaders. We look for unusual evidences of student body life in the near future.

Hon. Chas. L. McNary, United States Senator, visited Supt. Hall last Monday evening. He will leave within a few days for Washington, D.C., and he desired to have a conference with Mr. Hall prior to his departure for the East in order that he would be fully advised regarding the needs of the school. The Senator is a warm friend of Chemawa, as he has watched our steady growth and advancement for a lifetime.

CONGRESSMAN VISITS CHEMAWA

Congressman W. C. Hawley, with a party of prominent men of Salem, visited our school on Friday last. He addressed the student body at the noon hour, had luncheon at the Domestic Science and inspected the boys' and girls' industrial departments and some of the quarters. Mr. Hawley's stay was limited on account of taking the north-bound train at 2 p. m., but in his energetic way he saw most of Chemawa during the time at his disposal.

Mr. Hawley is a good friend of Chemawa and advised the student body that he was much interested in the welfare of the Chemawa students and would certainly do all he could for their advancement. The band serenaded him and the entire battalion of boys, before passing in review, gave three vociferous "rahs," while the girls vigorously clapped their hands. The luncheon was cooked and served by the junior girls, to whom he gave unstinted praise for their training.
