

LOCAL

Mr. Bent passed yesterday in Portland on business connected with the school.

Mrs. Working, of Salem, has entered on duty as assistant matron in Winona Hall.

Our office force has been busy of late getting out work for the Colville Indian Agency.

One-piece uniforms are now being made in the sewing rooms for the McBride Hall girls.

Blanche Conner, of Pendelton, visited Chemawa for a few days and attended the Winona program.

Mrs. Marina (Nelson) Potts is now living with her husband and two small sons in Partola, California.

Mrs. Vandagriff, manager of our Teachers' Club, has been in Portland recently enjoying her annual vacation.

Reports have reached us to the effect that Elizabeth Cogo, a former student at our school, is now working in Seattle.

Mrs. Julia (Mills) Miller is now managing her own home in Portland and all speak highly of her house-keeping abilities.

Some very nice furniture has been turned out in the carpentry department for the hospital office, wards, and the reception hall.

Dorothy Holst is said to be taking special nurse training at her home in Juneau, Alaska. She left Chemawa last summer.

One of our senior girls, Sadie Ridley, and Francis Hanbury, a freshman, have returned to their homes in Alaska—they left last week.

The second division of the seventh grade girls are now in the domestic science department and Mrs. Brickell speaks highly of their work.

It is reported to us that the girls of Winona Hall are much pleased with their new matrons, Mrs. Carrow, wife of Paul Carrow, and Mrs. Knowles.

Grace Morigeau and Hazel Boyd are assisting the new matrons in Winona Hall during the changes now in progress. Both of these girls have had experience and know about the work.

Several of the Chemawa employees attended the recent performances of the Light Opera Company in Salem. The matinee on Saturday afternoon drew a large crowd for "Pinafore."

Lucile LaCounte and Marie Eagleman were responsible for the costuming of the Bobby Shafto number at the Winona Open Session. The girls who appear on the platform do not do all the work.

It is a long journey from Chemawa to Phoenix, Arizona, but in an office in the latter city will be found Veltha Frazier, a graduate of our class of '19. From what we are told she is doing well.

Emma Carlson is employed in San Francisco, California. She was a popular Chemawa student while at Chemawa. Dame Rumor hints at a wedding in which she will figure as one of the contracting parties.

We are told that we may expect to hear of the marriage of Anna Miller some time during the coming month. She is now employed in Portland. All Chemawa will wish her happiness when she marries—we do now.

Lena Cleveland, a former student, is now in Arcata, California; her sister Jessie is at the Waverly Baby Home, Portland, and Katie, another of the Cleveland sisters, is employed in San Francisco. No matter where they are we expect good reports from these girls.

Louise Silverthorne and Julia Gromoff, two former Chemawa girls, are now employed at the Waverly Baby Home in Portland where they are getting along nicely. They are also attending the Benke-Walker College four nights a week and are reported to be doing splendid work.

How they travel! But they never forget Chemawa. We have learned that Miss Catherine Reed, former assistant nurse at Chemawa as well as one of our graduates, is now holding a position in the county hospital, Mission Road, Los Angeles, California. Report has it that she is getting along famously.

The Enterprise society, the coming leaders of girls at Chemawa, came to the front last Friday evening in their songs and yells. They are showing good material. The older societies, as always, did splendidly, but we are proud of this budding society. The Nesika, a younger boys' society, made a worthy effort which will no doubt materialize the next time.

During chapel exercises last Sunday evening the orchestra played "Land o' Dreams" by Schumann, a septet of girls sang "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes"—an old English song—Addie Merrill gave as a monologue "Minnie at the Movies," the choir sang "Extol Ye the Lord" by Shawker, and Supt. Hall closed with a very strong talk on "Reputation and Character." He made clear the value of possessing a good reputation and a good character and also mentioned how poverty-stricken is the person with a bad name. It was a talk worthy the serious consideration of all and it was convincingly given.

SENIOR NOTES

We were quite surprised to see two seniors, Anna LaRance, and Carrie Anderson, take part in the Winona Open Session.

Alex Beauvais, an honorable member of the class of '23, has been absent from school for several days on account of illness. But no need to worry now as he has resumed his studies.

(Freshie) "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"

(Senior) "I'd get them shined."

The seniors are glad to have Minnie Patawa back again.

Anna La Rance, coming back from practice, made a remark to a girl which ran something like this: "I am going to put my books under my head to-night so my brains will absorb everything that's in them." Next morning, strange to say, she found her head as empty as ever.

Carrie Anderson, hopped into Mr. Mason's car proceeding to Silverton to see the game. But the fates were against her. The car, while going along, finally got stubborn and buried its front wheels in a ditch. After a few moments of delay they turned back to good old Chemawa, as the car could not make the trip.
