LITERARY SOCIETIES

Enterprise

The Enterprise held its usual meeting in Room 6. The meeting was called to order by President Bertha M. Lee. The minutes and roll call were read and approved, after which we enjoyed a program. The Forget me-not Division gave the program, after which followed our usual songs and yells and then we adjourned.

Nonpareil

Friday night the Nonpareils met, and after a short business meeting a program was rendered, as follows:

Song	-	-	-	-	Society
Recitation	-	-	-	-	Margaret Frank
Music	-	-	-	-	Flora Dexter
Jokes	-	-	-	-	Mamie Thomas
Song	-	-	-	-	Alex Gregorloff
Pen Pictures	-	-	-	-	Minnie Patawa
A talk on Thrift	-	-	-	-	Addie Merrill
Indian Song	-	-	-	-	Elizabeth Reynolds
Duet	-	-	-	-	Lucy Verney, Anna Brendible
Songs and Yells	-	-	-	-	Society

After an encouraging talk from our advisor the society adjourned.

Excelsior

The Excelsior Literary Society held their meeting in the academic building last Friday evening. The house was called to order. The roll was called, then the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The following program was rendered: Song, members; recitation, Julian Smith; jokes, Tony Tyler; riddles, Wilbur Ridley; conundrums, George Chya; do as you're told, members: Debate: "Resolved; That liquor is more injurious to young men than tobacco." Affirmative, John Edelman, Walter Metroken; negative, Robert Peratovich, Merton Porter. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. The program was well prepared.

After the program we practiced our songs and yells and then we adjourned.

SENIOR NOTES

Albert Orsen gave current events this morning and was very interesting.

Circles and perpendicular bisectors are the chief subjects in geometry at present.

Details, they say, change in two weeks. We senior girls are planning our demonstration dinner menus hoping we make a success of them.

Last Wednesday afternoon our English period brought out very few good poets. The assignment was verse writing. Watch for them in our Annual of '23.

The seniors have been pretty busy during their English period, illustrating their personal anecdotes. A variety of good illustrations are cut out from the different magazines.

Last Friday the class of '23 had their class meeting. The main feature being a debate discussing the question that man is more revengeful than woman. Sorry to say dear readers the affirmative won and man goes on as revengeful as ever. But as Kipling, once wrote, "the female of the species is more deadlier than the male."

A girl named Erma LaClair,
Will become a great millionaire,
For she makes hats in a flash,
That will bring in the cash,
To this girl, Erma LaClair.
(Senior girls are studying millinery.)

VARSITY LOSES

Since the last issue our varsity has dropped two games. One to the Yellow Jackets of Salem, 17 to 23, and the other to the University of Oregon freshmen, 26 to 53. The former was played on the home floor, while the latter was played at Eugene.

In the Yellow Jacket game the team played entirely out of form. Teamwork and basket shooting was away below par. Had the team converted a third of their easy shots they would have won hands down. Gregg was the visitors' sole basket-shooter and registered 20 of their 22 points. Had our guards kept track of him like they could have done, their problem would have been solved.

The Eugene score would indicate a one sided affair, but for two short periods, one in each half, our boys would have played the Frosh to a stand still. After all but overcoming a 14 point lead in the second half our varsity closed up the gap to a 21 to 23 score when they took a sudden slump and failed to recover till the close of the game. Varsity, wake up! No team is licked till it quits. "A team that won't be beaten never can be beaten."

Dandro George was our shining light in this game and registered 14 of our 26 points, while Buchert made seven and DePoe and Norwest two each.

Hard work-outs will be the program for the remainder of the week and by Friday several changes are expected in the line-up that will start the game against the U. of O. freshmen. In all probability Buchert will be switched from a forward to a guard position and will likely be replaced by Norwest or Phinney.

Word has reached us to the effect that Roy Nuckolls, a graduate of Chemawa, was married recently at his home in Chico, California. All success to Roy and his bride.
