

SENIOR NOTESSENIOR PLEDGE-SONG

Now, as the senior class,
 Pledge we our honor
 To dear old C. I. S.,
 Our old Chemawa.
 With lifted cup do we
 Give you this promise true;
 "Ever we'll loyal be
 School-home to you."

Alex (Bevo) Beauvais made a flying trip to Portland last week.

The Merchant of Venice is the classic study now. Shylock is getting interesting.

Demonstration dinners are the talk of the girls of the class. Each is preparing to give the best dinner.

Carrie Anderson, of the senior class, gave an interesting history of Chemawa at the Wednesday assembly.

This last snow started with the Valentine party. The Senior party always starts a snow, but we can't remember what stops it. Help!

Work on herbariums starts at once. Don't be alarmed if you see a senior vigorously scratching away the deep snow where the flowers ought to be.

In seating the letter-men in the front row of honor with the seniors last week it was noticed that 38 percent of the senior men were also letter men.

A card from Mrs. Mabel Blodgett Ogden bore a Valentine greeting and the wish that she might live over her senior Valentine celebration with her class of '21.

A Chemawa song and yell contest, a declamation contest, home-building-essay contest, an anti-cigarette-essay contest, try-outs for operetta, contests for class honors—these confront us and yet we must keep a-smiling and "stick."

ITEMS FROM THE TRADES

The shoe shop is again in operation under the direction of Sam DeLorn on one division and Alfred Bernard on the other.

The painters are busy these days with window lights that have been broken. Get out in the open if you want to throw snow balls.

Much plaster has been repaired in Brewer Hall by the masons. They have not only done what was called for on their orders, but more as well. The painters are following them up as they go, which is also an added touch for the better.

Both the plumbers and engineers are contributing to the service at Chemawa, though there is not so much of it to be seen. Most of their work is under the buildings, or in the tunnels, or in the attics, but we know they are there because we have heat, light and water.

An employe recently spoke of one of our students as being backward in his work. He was too charitable in this instance, as developments proved. The fellow was—we are ashamed to say it—just plain lazy. He says he is cured of it now. We hope this is true. There is nothing among workmen that is so much despised as a lazy man. He is continually under the feet of those who have some energy, is constantly bemoaning his lot, and is the contemptuous butt of every joke and disagreeable situation other workmen can give him.

LIBRARY NOTES

The following list of books are for the convenience of the students in the vocational department who are interested in the supplementary reading:

Seventh Grade

A-Hunting of the Deer and other Essays, Warner; Christmas Day—Sketch Book, Irving; Tom Brown's School Days, Hughes; The Birds' Christmas Carol, Dickens; The Land of the Blue Flower, Van Dyke; The Sky Pilot, Connor; In Ole Virginia, Page; Famous Indian Chiefs, Johnston; Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Rice; Four Great Americans, Baldwin; Stories of American Life and Adventure, Eggleston; The Forest, White; Great Inventions and Discoveries, Piercy.

Eighth Grade

Eight Cousins, Alcott; Philippa at Halcyon, Brown; David Copperfield, Dickens; Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come, Fox; Corporal Cameron, Connor; Captains Courageous, Kipling; The Deerslayer, Cooper; Speeches and Letters, Lincoln; Uncle Tom's Cabin, Stowe; Hoosier Schoolmaster, Eggleston; Winning the West, Roosevelt; Lives of Girls Who Became Famous, Bolton; True Story of U. S. Grant, Brooks; The Perfect Tribute, Andrews.

Ninth Grade

Last Days of Pompeii, Lytton; Making of an American, Riis; Prince and Pauper, Mark Twain; Up from Slavery, Booker T. Washington; Daddy-Long-Legs, Webster; Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, Wiggin; The Snow Image, Hawthorne; Dissertation on Roast Pig, Lamb; Enoch Arden, Tennyson; Chambered Nautilus, Holmes; Vision of Sir Launfal, Lowell; Evangeline, Longfellow.

Tenth Grade

Dr. Grenfell's Parish, Duncan; The spell of the Rockies, Mills; Our National Parks, Muir; How the Other Half Lives, Riis; Walden, Thoreau; Hunting Trips of a Ranchman, Roosevelt; Ben Hur, Wallace; Big Tremaine, Van Vorst; The Mansion, Van Dyke; A Certain Rich Man, White; Richard Carvel, Churchill; Red Rock, Page; Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Stevenson; Selected Tales and Poems from Poe; Kim, Kipling; Story of My Life, Helen Keller.