The pupils were recipients of three eggs each Sunday morning at breakfast.

Various athletic teams of the school had pictures taken on Monday in a Salem studio.

Mr. Bent and his band boys gave us a very nice concert after church on Easter Sunday.

The new rugs, stair carpet and runners in the club building halls add much to the appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Turney spent Sunday at Molalla and called upon Mr. Bruce, who is farming on his own place.

Mrs. C. E. Donnally, an ex-pupil of Chemawa, known to us as Louise Young, visited the school on Monday.

Miss Skipton gave an afternoon tea to the campus ladies on Friday. It was attended also by ladies from Salem. A delightful time is reported.

A new stand lamp in McBride Hall is very nifty. The girls sold weenie sandwiches and coffee in their own building to secure funds for the purchase.

Early morning drill is the order of the day now with the companies composing the boys' battalion. This is proving a good appetizer for all—sure's you're born!

The Reliance and Winona Literary Societies will hold a joint meeting next Friday evening and no doubt will have a most interesting program on that occasion.

Mr. Hall presided at the employes' reading circle Monday evening. A large crowd was present and much interest manifested. "Home Building" was emphasized.

In a recent contest game of baseball between Troops 1 and 2, Chemawa Boy Scouts, Troop 1 was victorious in a score 13 to 3. We've heard of league teams doing worse.

Word reaches us to the effect that brick laying on McNary Hall will be completed this week. It seems to us that this work has been carried on with most gratifying rapidity.

Electricians and engineers all took examinations last week. The electricians all passed with a grade of 90 or better. It is stated that the engineers did not fare so well in the main.

Basketball and volleyball courts have been installed on the lawn just south of the hospital. They are so placed that they will not interfere when dress parades and competitive drills are held there.

Miss Eakin, Mrs. Bent and Mrs. Downie drove to Portland on Sunday evening after services to meet Miss Judd who had spent the week end with her brother at Astoria. They returned about 2 a. m.

Mr. James, tailor, commends Isaac Medicine very highly on the completion of a couple of pairs of trousers—"a credit to any tailor."

Mrs. Sarah Chamberlin is again at her old post of duty as stenographer and clerk in the Superintendent's office. Her ability as a fast and accurate worker is well known at Chemawa. She is warmly welcomed as a member of the school force.

Minnie Patawa, senior, gave her final demonstration in serving a dinner at the domestic science on Wednesday last. Each senior plans a menu, prepares the food, estimates the cost, receives the guests and serves the dinner to at least six guests. She is allowed one assistant in the kitchen during the meal. Minnie did nicely.

From 16 cows Mr. Teter and his dairy boys are getting 62 gallons of milk a day. Lately business has been good with this force for they have spread fertilizer over a 12-acre field near the cow barn, preparatory to planting kale and corn. It may be of interest to learn that Mr. Teter's calf herd is now composed of nine very superior animals.

On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons the Juniors at the domestic science were hostesses to a large group of the campus ladies, known as afternoon tea. It was a demonstration to show the girls' art in serving. Mrs. Brickell never misses an opportunity to give her girls practice. All of the campus ladies have now been entertained by the Juniors and the courtesy was fully appreciated.

The Enterprise and Nesika literary societies gave their open session entertainment Friday evening. The young girls of the Enterprise society, under Miss Gunn, certainly did themselves proud and deserve special commendation. The little Nesika boys, under Miss Goodman's direction, did not take as active parts as the girls, due to the handicap of so many changes in their advisors. They are a promising lot of boys and we hope to hear more from them later. The "take-off" by a group of little Enterprise girls fairly brought down the house.

During chapel exercises last Sunday evening Supt. Hall gave one of the finest talks he has ever given, beyond doubt. He chose to speak on the power and possibilities of self—possibilities and powers often unknown to their possessors, but which must be developed by the individuals possessing them. It was a mighty fine address. In addition to the above and the general song service the orchestra played "The Land o' Dreams" by Schumann, a mixed chorus sang "Low in the Grave He Lay" by Lowry, George Phinney recited "Blue" by Paul Lawrence Dunbar, and the choir sang an Easter anthem—"Evening of Beauty"—by Lorenz.
