

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS

The painters are finishing the dining tables for the senior domestic science practice house. They have been stained a flemish oak color and will be filled and finished in flat varnish.

A carload of oats has been shipped from Chemawa. This was a part of last year's harvest. Four hundred sacks of onions also are ready for market. Our farm and garden produced very well last year in spite of the fact that it was the driest year known in Oregon for some time.

We are soon to have some fine pigs to sell. Mr. Gibson has twelve head that are in prime condition and will be ready for market within the next few days. He says he must get rid of them to make room for the eleven that arrived recently. There are fifty head of young pigs that will be ready for market a little later in the spring.

The tailors recently made a record that stands out as the best Chemawa has made. Forty pairs of pants were made for the boys of the small companies in four days' time. When we consider that it was necessary to rip up larger garments to obtain the material, and having obtained the cloth, cut the pants and make them, it speaks very well for this department.

The plumbers are almost through with the roughing in of the bath at the hospital. They have set the sink in the surgery and the masons have finished the floor in the surgery also. When the floor has been set sufficiently the carpenters will complete their work and the painters will wind up the job. The enlargement of this surgery will greatly improve conditions at our hospital. The machinists are all ready to connect the sterilizer and make a more up-to-date surgery than we have before had available.

SENIOR NOTES

At the basketball game with Silverton last week two Seniors played their part in the game.

With the change of detail Lydia Davis was appointed assistant matron, thus relieving Grace Peterson.

"Fishhead," better known as Frank Thomas, has taken to cross-word puzzles and has proved himself an expert at it.

We are overjoyed at the return of Mr. Fisher, our botany teacher, but we shall miss Mrs. Whelan, as she was always so obliging with her stories.

Agnes Ponchene made her first appearance on the stage last Sunday when she gave a recitation, "The Wreck of the Hesperus." Agnes did very well for her first public recitation.

For two consecutive years snow has fallen in Chemawa on St. Valentine's Day. But our talented

Weather Prophet stated Monday that there'll be no snow in C.I.S. this year on that date.

Nellie Rinehart sprained her ankle at a basketball game at Toledo; nevertheless she was game enough to take her part in the play, no matter what happened, which goes to show that you can't keep a Senior back.

The Seniors are getting much practice in teaching on account of the illness of the regular teachers. Last week Maybelle Bremner, Grace Peterson, Williamette Blakeslee, Archie Greycloud and Raymond Haldane taught.

We were glad that the world didn't end last Friday, as we are all anxiously awaiting the 14th of February. Do you know why? Guess! We wish that the one who dated the end of the world would consider the Senior party first.

DOMESTIC ART NOTES

Whew! but it's hard to believe. What??? Oh! only that we're back in the sewing department. Our only regret was that Miss Vesper wasn't there to greet us with open arms as she always does. Here's hoping she'll be back with us soon. The work is going on the same as ever though with Anna Fagerstrom as acting instructor. This goes to show that we're real Juniors.

We are very busy making new gingham dresses for for ourselves. Each girl is making her's to suit her taste, and we assure you you'll see some nice looking dresses soon.

Yours until mosquitoes tweeze their eyebrows,

THE INDUSTRIOUS JUNIORS.

DETAIL FOR WEEK

Sunday escort for girls, February 15

McBride Hall

Winona Hall

Teacher No. 1

Teacher No. 4

Asst. Disciplinarian

Shoe and Harness Maker

Chaperone girls to Salem, Feb. 14

House Mother Brewer

Visitors to societies Feb. 13

Nonpareil—Poultryman

Winona—Machinist

Reliance—Teacher No. 14

Excelsior—H. M. Winona

No. 1—D. S. Teacher

No. 2—Teacher No. 13

No. 3—Asst. Disciplinarian

No. 4—Teacher No. 12

Mr. Antoine Caisse, at one time clerk at Chemawa, was here recently visiting his two daughters.

Despite wind and rain, snow and ice, trees are beginning to bud and there are many evidences of the near approach of spring. Seems incredible, but it is true. Well, we'll not mind it much if spring does come, for it stands for a mighty good season at Chemawa.