Baseball! Baseball! Baseball!

Mr. Downie went to Portland on Wednesday.

This is St. Patrick's Day. Are you wearing green?

Miss Daisy Lefler of Portland spent the week-end with Miss Houk.

Mr. Bent returned a day or so ago from a trip to Pendleton on school business.

The making of a first-class chemistry table is well under way at the carpenter shop.

The new batting cage that is being made for the baseball players is almost completed.

Miss Uinta Kirk, now attending college in Corvallis, spent the week-end with her parents at Chemawa.

Mr. Bent and Reggie DePoe motored to Stevenson, Washington, in the interests of the school recently.

The slides shown in the auditorium on Thursday evening to the Bible study classes proved very interesting.

Nick Sheaskin, a former Chemawa student, who is now in the army, visited some of his friends at Chemawa this week.

Mr. Bewley went "smelting" on Saturday and brought home many of the fish, to the delight of his friends and neighbors.

On Sunday evening Miss Caryl made the chapel stage a fitting scene for the splendid program rendered with plum blossoms and spring greens.

Alfred Colgrove, Archie Greycloud and Henry Kitka, of the machinist's detail, are taking instruction this week in forge work under Mr. Glover.

Mr. Sanders motored over to the Siletz Agency last Saturday and returned on Sunday. He reports all well over there with Mr. Larsen, who is in charge, and his family.

Mr. Roy Bradley, supervisor of construction, who has been at Chemawa on business for a couple of weeks, has returned to Lapwai, Idaho, where he is at present located.

The Nonpareil Literary Society gave one of the most delightful socials of the year Saturday evening. There was nothing spared to make this event the splendid success that it was.

Oxcenia Hendrickson and Dorothea Parker served a delicious eight-course dinner on Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Iliff, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, Misses Houk, Strout, Thornhill, and Mrs. Brickell.

Ida Escholt and Theresa Williams gave a demonstration dinner on Wednesday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Iliff, Miss White, Miss Strout, Mrs. Brickell and Mr. and Mrs. Mason.

The Sophomore class boast of the greatest number of letter men in any class. Out of 22 ten wear the "C." The seventh grade also boasts of seven "C" men. They say that by the time they are Sophomores they will all be wearing the "C."

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores in the first baseball game of the season on Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 7. Solomon Fleury and Jacob Atkins starred for the sophomores, while Thompson, Charles DePoe and the Logan boys were the "bright lights" of the Junior nine.

The eleventh grade and the ninth grade girls took their mid-term examination in commercial geography on Friday afternoon. The ninth grade boys took their examination in bookkeeping on Saturday morning. The girls will now take up bookkeeping and the boys will take up commercial geography.

Just as we were going to press we learned of the death of Mr. Ira S. Loos, at LaPorte, Indiana, on March 2nd. Mr. Loos was for many years bandmaster at Chemawa and had many warm friends here who will be shocked to learn the sad news of his death. In our next issue we expect to give a more complete account of the passing of Mr. Loos—our friend.

The Wednesday assemblies were entertained by pupils of the eighth grade in the morning. Julia Walker reviewed the life of Edward Everett Hale, Bertha Joe told the story of "The Man Without a Country," and Marie Andrews asked questions in current events. In the afternoon George Jackson gave the life of Kipling, Myron Anderson recited "The Recessional," and Robert Perkins asked questions in current events. Both assemblies were interesting and instructive.

On Sunday evening Dr. Seitz and a few of his talented pupils rendered a musical program to the delight of all. It was a wonderful evening and those who appeared on the program seemed inspired. Dr. Seitz should feel proud of the showing made by his pupils, and no doubt he is. He was at the piano in support of his vocal pupils. Mr. Iliff, acting superintendent in charge, made a splendid introductory talk in which he voiced the sentiment of all Chemawa at the special treat to be given them. Miss Esther Dieffenbach sang "Oh Divine Redeemer" by Gounod; Miss Evangeline Hall gave two piano solos, "Hungarian Dance" by Potjes and "Valcik" by Mojkras; Mr. Lyman McDonald sang "The Ragged Vagabond" by Randolph; Miss Nancy Thielsen sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" by Sanderson; this was followed by a group of trios rendered by Mrs. Turney at the piano, Mr. Turney, violin, and Dr. Seitz, cello. The numbers played were the well-known "Intermezzo" by Mascagni, the "Barcarolle" by Offenbach, and a "Minuetto" from a work Dr. Seitz is at present composing as a classic trio. This was the first time that it has been played in public. It is an unusually beautiful inspiration and was enjoyed by all. Every number of the entire program was thoroughly enjoyed and enthusiastically encored. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Iliff again thanked Dr. Seitz and his artist pupils and called upon Mr. Downie to have the student body give three "rahs," which closed an evening long to be remembered.
