ATHLETIC NOTES

The first game on our baseball schedule was knocked asunder last Saturday afternoon when it rained so hard that the game with Franklin high school of Portland had to be called off. Next Saturday the team is scheduled to meet Commerce High at Portland.

The schedule is still a long way from being completed, but Mr. Bent, our manager, is busy trying to round up something that will look like an interesting schedule. At present we have five games arranged, one of which is tentative:

- April 10. Commerce High at Portland, Tentative
- April 17. Salem High school at Chemawa
- April 23. Columbia University at Portland
- May 7. Columbia University at Chemawa
- May 14. Salem High school at Chemawa

However it is still early and other games will present themselves as the season goes along and by the time the season is closed we will have our usual 12 or 15 games on the list.

A track meet is soon to be held with Franklin high school at Portland. Mr. Sanders has been working his men daily on the track and field events getting ready for it. The coach believes that each event will be quite well taken care of, even though by inexperienced men, for they all show promise of developing.

DOMESTIC ART NOTES

The detail has changed and the 9th grade girls are back again working very enthusiastically on different problems assigned to them.

The 10th grade girls, who have just left the department, came up and gave us a real fashion show. They all made beautiful construction dresses, and were eager to show them off. It seemed impossible to decide which dress was the best looking, as they all looked so well and fitted the girls who made them.

The 11th grade girls have finished making patterns and the 6th grade girls are now in the mending room with Martha Orsen still as practice teacher.

We sewing-room detail are working hard to finish the pretty gingham uniforms for the Winona and Hawley Hall girls. Each girl will then make some article for our annual demonstration.

The weavers are busy as well as noisy in the domestic art department, we will have some fine rugs on display in the near future.

The ninth graders are very busy finishing up embroidery work, gray uniforms and gingham dresses in the domestic art department. The tenth grade have just completed their gingham dresses and are going to have a fashion show at the close of the period. Martha Orsen, the practice teacher, is busy teaching her girls how to make a set-in pocket. Emma Sexton's practice class are making curtains for Mitchell Hall.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE NOTES

The Seventh and Eighth grades are now taking lessons in the Domestic Science department. Last week the two classes made some very nice cakes for the Excelsior party. Grace Marshall, the smallest seventh grade girl, made one of the best looking cakes.

Ida Audette and Zelma Johnson are preparing lunches for the high school students this week.

The tenth grade girls canned smelt last week. This is something new for them, and will be useful for demonstration purposes.

LOCAL

Easter Sunday has again passed and it did not make it very plain as to whether or not we are to be blessed with seven rainy Sundays. The general opinion is that it did not rain—at least not at Chemawa, so we are feeling quite certain of some clear Sundays to follow. Easter was not ideal from the standpoint of nice weather, but it was not bad.

During chapel on Sunday evening Mr. Iliff introduced Supt. McGregor, who with his family had arrived here the day before from Rosebud, S. D. Mr. McGregor made a very nice talk, which though brief, was splendid in the way of an introductory. The orchestra played "Devotion" by Mackie-Beyer, Miss Judd contributed a splendid vocal solo, Louis Dupuis gave an oration, the Octette girls sang "Christ is Risen" by Parks, and the choir sang "Evening of Beauty" by Lorenz. It was an interesting chapel exercise.

The Excelsior Literary Society gave their annual social Saturday evening. As Capt. Stacy was sick, the affair was sponsored by Mr. Downie. It was one of the nicest parties of the year and Mr. Downie and the boys certainly made it a grand success.

The decorations at the Excelsior party was unusual in one way—no crepe paper was used. All of the decorations came from the greenhouse and the adjacent woods. The gym never looked more attractive. The party was in every way a success and the Excelsiors are proud of having the distinctive honor of welcoming Supt. McGregor and family to Chemawa. Reginald DePoe made the address of welcome. Delicious refreshments were served.
