Miss Daisy Lefler of Portland was a week-end guest of Miss Houk.

Miss Catherine Clemens of Portland spent the week-end with Miss Virginia Brickell.

Supervisor Coon left us for California on Sunday morning. Chemawa is always glad to see Mr. Coon and we always hate to see him leave.

Mrs. Carrol is again on the teaching force, Miss Lacy being called to her home in Salem. Miss Lacy came out and spent Saturday night with Miss Strout and attended the Sigma party.

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Hans Seitz of Salem were the guests of Chemawa friends last Sunday evening. Dr. Seitz played cello with the orchestra during chapel and proved quite an acquisition.

Mr. Bent and the band boys gave pleasure to many people on Sunday afternoon when they gave a nice concert. Such concerts can be made quite a feature at Chemawa, and we trust that they will be.

Miss Roddy has received the sad news of her father's death, in Vancouver, B. C. Miss Roddy and her mother and brother left immediately for Vancouver. The campus employees sympathize deeply with the Roddy family in this sad trouble.

Salurday noon, Supervisor Coon, Mr. Camp, Supt. McGregor, Mr. J. C. H. Reynolds, Mrs. Brickell and Mrs. Iliff were entertained at dinner at the Wigwam. Mr. Reynolds is on the program committee for the Indian Congress to be held in Spokane from July 21-27, in which pupils of Chemawa may take part.

Chemawa is quite proud of the fact that in the past week the school was informed that its hospital training met the requirements of the higher state institutions and the girls finishing the hospital training at Chemawa would be accepted in such institutions, and after two years' training could become graduate nurses.

We have just received an announcement to the effect that Betty Esther arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Evans in Metlakatla, Alaska, on April the 24th. The father was formerly one of our esteemed printers, but at present he is the postmaster at Metlakatla and also the manager of a large co-operative store.

Mr. Charles E. Larsen, in charge of the Siletz Agency, arrived at Chemawa on Sunday afternoon. It was business first that brought him out, as he wished to confer with Supt. McGregor; secondly, he was glad to have the opportunity to visit with some of his Chemawa friends. He reports everything going nicely at the agency.

The assembly programs Wednesday were given by the Sophomore class. In the morning Moses George read the story of "Robin Hood." The class sang "The Tinkers' Song" from the opera of Robin Hood. This song was excellently given and heartily applauded. Raymond Jones asked questions on current events. In the afternoon Margaret Maupin gave the Biography of Benjamin Franklin, Marie Bauer gave "Sayings" from "Poor Richard's Almanac" and Josephine Summers asked current event questions.

From the Capital Journal of April 27th we glean the following: Mr. and Mrs. Will Heaton of Spokane spent several hours visiting Mrs. L. F. Brickell and daughter Virginia, at the Indian school Sunday. Mrs. Heaton is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Brickell. They stopped on their way from Portland and visited other relatives, then motored to McMinnville for a short stay with friends there. This is the first meeting for over seven years. Mrs. M. A. Freeland, mother of Mrs. Brickell, and Mrs. O. M. Waddell and Miss E. L. Freeland, sisters, were also present at the reunion.

The Sigma Phi Deltas held their annual party last Saturday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated with plants and wild flowers; Japanese lanterns and parasols added much to the spring-like appearance. The Sigma girls, all dressed in white, with thin red and white regalias, sang toasts to the guests whom they wished to favor. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening and as the hostesses lined up to serve the refreshments they sang a number of songs. Everyone wore a smile from the time they were received by their hostesses until they sang their "good night" hymn.

The nurse girls in training had the pleasure of meeting and talking with Miss Borland's friends, Miss Phelan, Miss Thompson and Mrs. Blakely. Miss Phelan is at present connected with the National Child Health Bureau of Washington, D. C. Miss Thompson is supervising nurse, Child Health Demonstration of Salem, and Mrs. Blakely is the State Supervising Nurse of Oregon. These visitors were guests at lunch of Miss Borland and were interested and enthusiastic visitors. Miss Phelan and Miss Borland are graduates of the general Hospital Training School of Rochester, New York. Chemawa is always glad to welcome such visitors.

During chapel exercises on Sunday the orchestra played "On Mountain Heights" by Kiesler, Reno Booth sang "You in a Gondola" by Clark, Clifford McLeod gave a recitation, the girls' octette sang "The Swallows" by Cowen, the choir sang "The Author of Salvation" by Gabriel, and Supt. McGregor gave a splendid talk to the students. He spoke to them on "What Chemawa Can Do for the Students" and made it clear that our school has much to offer in many ways—but the students must do their part, too.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE NOTES

The 7th and 8th grade girls prepared all the fine French pastry for the Sigma party. This was their first week in the Domestic Science and for some the first cake-making.

The Wisteria which grows on one side of the Junior Domestic science building is blooming for the first time in five or six years.

Marie Andrews and Anna Ponchene are preparing the high school lunches this week.

Nellie Hawley, an eighth grade girl, prepared two nice looking trays for the health demonstration. One was a typical fluid diet for a very sick person, the other was a convalescent diet.

We will soon have radishes from our little garden spot in back of the department. Next year we hope to have a real garden.
