

The CHEMAWA AMERICAN

Published Weekly at the Salem Indian Training School Chemawa, Oregon. Please address all communications to Ruthyn Turney, Manager.

JAS. H. MCGREGOR - - - Superintendent

SUBSCRIPTION - - - 50 Cts PER ANNUM

ATHLETIC NOTES

The class football game played here last week between the juniors and the seniors was a red-hot battle from the start. There were no spectator-players to be seen anywhere and each of the twenty-two men or more who took part in the fray can justly feel that in some way or other he was directly responsible for the well-earned score of his team, and further, that he loyally did his duty by his team and class. It was really a thrilling game to watch and one that was hard played. Both teams put up a scrappy offense and a stone wall defense. The game was easily the best played thus far this season. Both teams were nicely drilled and they jumped in and out of formations with a lot of "pep." Coquille Thompson and Solomon Fleury are the coaches for the juniors and seniors respectively and they deserve credit for the snappy way their teams performed.

The seniors drew first blood and after bucking and unbucking around the middle of the field for the greater part of the first half started a victory march from their forty-five yard line toward the junior goal. With their backs against the wall the juniors' defense strengthened and was holding the dashing seniors for downs when a neatly executed forward pass from Archie Raines to Gustavus Logan spelled a touchdown for the wearers of the blue and gold. The juniors, fired by a touchdown against them, proceeded with more determined operations and immediately carried the ball from their own forty-yard line to a touchdown by line charges and end runs with the ferociousness of wild bulls and the seniors were unable to check the parade. Robert Archambault, on the last play, pierced the tottering seniors' line for 10 yards and the score. Attempt to kick goal failed.

Though the seniors were forced back to the wall several times during the last half they always managed to get out of the hole and stave off a junior score.

To pick the outstanding players in the game would result in printing the line-up of both teams which space will not permit. So we suggest to the class that the names of each player be placed on the roll of honor with the other bright stars of the class.

This week the sophomores and the seniors will play and the freshmen and the juniors the week following. The officials for the next game are Reginald DePoe, referee; Paul Ketah, umpire; Coquille Thompson, headlinesman.

This week-end our varsity meets the Oregon Freshmen at Eugene. The boys are hoping the game will be played as a preliminary to the Oregon-Stanford game so they can watch the big battle and incidentally see "Pop" Warner, the Stanford coach, who was for so long a time the coach of the famous Carlisle teams.

This game will be a real test of our strength. The "frosh" trounced Columbia University last week by a big score, but this has only made our team more determined. Monday the boys took renewed interest in the schedule and practice on hearing of the improved physical condition of their captain and tackle, Ole Strom, who was critically injured in the Corvallis game. Olie is greatly missed, as his leadership and strength was a powerful factor in the success of our team. The squad, especially, hopes for his speedy recovery.

LOCAL

Mr. and Mrs. Strom are at Chemawa at the bedside of their son, Olie.

Mr. Fisher will soon contribute his share of the music in the teachers' cottage as he has ordered a radio.

Miss Sadie Seeds was the guest of Miss Houk on Sunday. Miss Seeds is employed by the Pickwick Stage Company in Portland.

It was learned by letter that Supt. and Mrs. Charles L. Davis are contemplating a visit to the Pacific Coast and as far north as Seattle in November. Their many friends at Chemawa will be disappointed if they pass Chemawa without stopping.

The Reliance Literary Society held their regular meeting in room 11, October 15, 1926. The following program was rendered: Songs and yells, Society; current events, Ray Jones; impromptu, Ernest Brunoe; open house debate, "Resolved that dancing should be abolished from Chemawa," affirmative, George Flach, Percy Woodcock and Dewey Matt; negative, William Johnson and Royal Holst; the negative side won; recitation, Geo. Flach; speech on loyalty by President Harry Frost. After the program the house was opened for business. The Reliance annual open session was discussed. It was decided that a special meeting should be called to arrange a program for the open session.

The Excelsior Literary Society held their regular meeting in room seven of the school building on Friday evening, Oct. 15, 1926. After roll call, reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, and a short business meeting the following program was rendered in an excellent way: Opening song, Members; recitation, Louis Dupuis; jokes, Walter Metrokin; guitar solo, Mamette Emanoff; debate, Open House; song, Coquille Thompson; duet, Chas. DePoe and Walter Metrokin. The debate brought out many promising orators and proved both instructive and entertaining. Reggie DePoe, as presiding officer, called upon Eldon Brickell, a campus member, who made a good talk to his society. It was unanimously voted to send good wishes in the form of a bouquet to Olie Strom. After giving yells for the visitors, and the critic's report, the society adjourned.