

LOCAL

John Pesterkoff of the class of '24 visited the school recently.

Work on the pipeline in West Chemawa is nearing completion.

Marie Bauer of the class of '28 is attending school in Poplar, Montana.

Our first visitor of the week was Jack Frost. Unwelcome guest, too!

Take a minute off and see the Halloween paper work of the primary department.

Marion Kawina and George Johnson, late arrivals, raise the number of Seniors to 47.

Drosalina Cimino, Ruby Pearson, Vera Korter and Pauline Pratt are now assisting the matron in Hawley Hall.

Recently the Y. W. C. A. committee of fourteen had a meeting in which was discussed and outlined the plans and work for the year.

Our students were rejoiced last week by a good movie—Rin-tin-tin in "While London Sleeps." This proved a most entertaining show.

The Wednesday assemblies were in charge of Mr. Fisher. He spoke on the life and works of Frances E. Willard. Michael Hanson sang "When Twilight Comes."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mason went to Corvallis last Saturday to witness the football struggle between W. S. C. and O. S. C., which was won by the Oregon Aggies.

Miss Wright is busy trying to get all the students interested in the Junior Red Cross. Join! Show some of your school spirit; organize; be a member and do your duty to yourself and to your country.

The Protestant Bible class completed their study of "The Ten Commandments" last Thursday evening. In the future study they will take up things that happened in Jesus' life which applied to "The Ten Commandments."

The newly elected officers of the Winona Literary Society are as follows: President, Emma Sexton; vice-president, Ivy Dupuis; secretary and treasurer, Ruby Paul; sergeants-at-arms, Sophia Bremner and Bernice Blakeslee; critic, Lorraine Jude; reporter, Vera Korter; advisor, Mr. Walter E. Klein.

Early last Sunday morning Messrs. Reuben Sanders and William Carrow left for Pacific City, over on the coast, for a day of fishing. The Nestucca river flows into the Pacific Ocean at Pacific City and our fishermen got a boat and operated on the river. Not the best luck in the world resulted from the trip, but they got some fish.

The Nonpareil Literary Society met at the school gymnasium recently for the purpose of initiating new members. Only a new member can really tell you how the evening was spent. Everyone enjoyed themselves and the Nonpareils were doubly assured of some "good" new members. Aside from the initiation, Mr. Sorensen let us hear the address of Thomas A. Edison over his radio.

Our chapel last Sunday evening was, as usual, in charge of Supt. Lipps, who made a really splendid talk. The talk was one to inspire our students with a desire to go home, or out into the world, and make good—to be leaders in their communities. It was a serious talk with a purpose in view. In addition to the address of Supt. Lipps a sextet of boys sang a "Negro Spiritual" and sang it well. The choir and orchestra each contributed pleasing numbers.

Chemawa high school classes celebrated Halloween with a costume party in the gym. Good music was provided by Mr. DePoe and his organization, there were many striking costumes and every feature of the evening was both interesting and orderly. Prizes were awarded to the following parties: First prize went to Mrs. Stacy who was dressed to represent "Night;" Second prize to Drosalina Cimino, Helen Smith and Vera Korter, who represented "Spark Plug;" and third prize to Cecile Smith and Spina Howard, rabbits.

CHEMAWA HONORS SUPT. AND MRS. LIPPS

Miss Gunn and Mrs. Bent had made the school gymnasium a fit and beautiful habitation for witches and ghosts with autumn leaves, fruits and halloween motifs on Wednesday evening when the employes and their families and near neighbors, under the auspices of the Federal employes' Union of Chemawa, gave a reception in honor of Supt. and Mrs. Lipps and family. Mr. Iliff received at the door and Mesdames Brickell, Davis, Hunter, Carroll and Iliff were in the receiving line.

Mr. Iliff welcomed Mr. Lipps and family to Chemawa in behalf of the employes. He also welcomed the new employes who have come into our midst. Mrs. Lipps was later presented with a beautiful corsage bouquet.

Miss Strout and Miss Spencer presided over the refreshments which were as daintily and artistically served as they were delicious.

It was an evening filled with pleasure and never to be forgotten by those present. It was Chemawa's way of welcoming Supt. and Mrs. Lipps who are to direct our activities, share our joys and sorrows for some time to come. Again we welcome you.

During the evening Mrs. Reed gave a reading and a vocal solo in a charming way. Mr. Decorah gave a bit of history in connection with an old Indian flute and played the same. Miss Judd and Miss Eakin had prepared varied contests that kept the guests continually moving, mirthful and happy. Mrs. DePoe, with the help of the guests, gave a "fake" trip of Supt. Lipps from Fort Lapwai to Chemawa, that caused continual laughter. Between these contests the orchestra members played in their usual splendid manner.
