High honor students have no grade, including department, effort, academic and industrial grades, below 90. Honor students have no grade lower than 85.

Last Saturday Mr. Bent, our manager, met with a large delegation of managers and coaches for the many teams in this district to arrange a schedule and select officials for the coming basketball season. The meeting, which was held at the Marion hotel in Salem, according to Mr. Bent, was a big success. He came home imbued with enthusiasm over the program that this body has mapped out, both in the way of arranging games and the large number in each school who will get an opportunity to play.

Another football season has come to a close and all that our gridiron men did is now history. By their efforts they have won the Willamette Valley title which is by no means an empty one. They worked hard and long that they might be prepared to match wits and measure their strength and skill against worthy opponents. Our first issue told that a new and inexperienced squad without the presence of a single veteran had taken up the task of learning football and that time was so short none could be wasted on bemoaning the fact that we did not have any seasoned material but that everyone had set about his job with a smile and a lot of determination. Their victories prove their efforts have not been in vain.

The "will to do" and the "will to win" has had more to do with the success of our team than any other single factor. From the least to the most important member of the squad they all worked with the same point in view—that of getting somewhere. And they did, for they have finally come to the end of three months of hard work repaid for their efforts with victory and success.

A large number of boys share the distinction our team has won. All have contributed something that helped us on our way. Some have made the entire journey while others could not stand the struggle and dropped out. A few were forced to drop out because of the pressure of classroom work and still others reluctantly stepped out when physical condition forbade further participation. Yet all contributed that which is so vital to team success—unparalleled interest and support. It is hard to carry on sometimes when valuable and important men must drop out, but that is just the time those who remain must work harder. It is their one big chance to prove their metal. Not only once but several times this season our team has been tested in just that way and each time they have proved their worth and won. Hard work, persistent effort, and ability to hang on are always rewarded in the end.

For some time now our gym has echoed to the sound of the basketball as the various class teams have engaged in games as a preliminary to our usual tryouts. In just a short while now our regular squad will swing into action.

Leander Wilson visited the school and friends here last week. Just a couple of years ago Lee was our first string pitcher and his ability to "mix 'em up" made him an effective twirler. And while here he pulled many a close battle out of the fire for his class by his clever, accurate passes on the gridiron.
