

(FROM THE QUIVER OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN)

Beware of little expenses; a small leak will sink a ship.

Those have a short Lent who have money to be paid at Easter.

Pride is as loud a beggar as Want, and a great deal more saucy.

A plowman on his legs is higher than a gentleman on his knees.

Buy what thou hast no need of, and ere long thou shalt sell thy necessities.

Think what you do when you run in debt: you give to another power over your liberty.

Many a one, for the sake of finery on the back, have gone with a hungry belly and half-starved their families.

When you have bought one fine thing, you must buy ten more, that your appearance may be all of a piece.

If you would know the value of money, go and try to borrow some; for he that goes a-borrowing goes a-sorrowing.

It is as truly folly for the poor to ape the rich, as for the frog to swell in order to equal the ox.

Wouldst thou enjoy a long life, a healthy body, and a vigorous mind, labor in the first place to bring thy appetites to reason.

TO CHEMAWA PEOPLE

At this time I wish to express my gratitude to you all for the kindness rendered to me on my visit here at Chemawa. I am wishing you all happiness and success.—JOE MCNEIL.

One day last week the basketball girls and Mrs. Downie, their coach, enjoyed a hike to the woods and a picnic lunch. After the luncheon hour they enjoyed themselves immensely playing baseball in the clearing. This was followed with a marshmallow roast, and a recounting of the seasons' events and a singing bee. Just before starting their homeward journey they all stood with joined hands around the fire and pledged themselves to a bigger and fuller program next year. It proved to be a memorable event in every way.

The party of the Winona Literary Society last Saturday evening was held in the gymnasium and was one of the high lights of Chemawa's "social season." The big gym was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the society members had spared no pains to have everything so arranged that only joy and satisfaction would register with their guests. The orchestra was on hand to add to the enjoyment of all. At the proper hour most dainty and delicious refreshments were served, after which all repaired to quarters. The young ladies of the Winona Society and their advisor, Mrs. Herlits, who were hostesses on this occasion, certainly merit all the nice things said of their party.

Early on St. Patrick's morn our band was abroad and serenading us. It was a most enjoyable experience for us, but there was a reason—it was the band's 35th birthday anniversary. Mr. H. A. Kunkel, our bandmaster, and the boys of the organization decided some time back to commemorate the occasion with a banquet. This idea was carried out and the boys and their guests were served in the domestic science rooms, and thanks are due Miss French and her young lady assistants for the fine banquet and service. Mr. Kunkel was toastmaster and at the proper time he introduced the speakers who offered toasts in the following order: Supt. Lipps, Mr. LaVatta, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Larsen, Mr. Shepard, Mr. Bent, Victor Smith, Alex Gouley and Joe Matte. In addition to those above-mentioned Raymond Haldane and Charles DePoe, former members of the organization, were guests of the band on this occasion.

Last Friday evening the entire body of Chemawa employes, on call of Principal Mote, assembled for a meeting at the domestic science building. Mr. Mote was chairman of the meeting and after a nice talk he introduced Mr. G. P. La Vatta, who represents the government on matters of importance and who was the guest of the school. Mr. La Vatta made an impressive talk in which he did not mince matters and he was given a good "hand" on the conclusion of his talk. Supt. Lipps was next called upon by Mr. Mote and in his talk he again demonstrated not only his splendid speaking ability but complete mastery of the Indian question. He, too, was given fine attention and his remarks were endorsed by all. A social hour followed in which games and conversation played a prominent part. Mrs. Kirk and Miss French and a committee of assistants served refreshments and thus the hour for retirement arrived. It was a good meeting.
