

(FROM THE QUIVER OF THOMAS JEFFERSON)

The bulk of mankind are schoolboys through life.

Those who labor in the earth are the chosen people of God.

I steer my bark with hope in the head, leaving fear astern.

Never suffer a thought to be harbored in your mind which you would not avow openly.

That one hundred and fifty lawyers should do business together ought not to be expected.

Above all things and in all times, practice yourself in good humor; this, of all human qualities, is the most amiable and endearing to society.

Were we directed from Washington when to sow, and when to reap, we should soon want bread.

The whole art of government consists in the art of being honest. Only aim to do your duty, and mankind will give you credit where you fail.

The greatest service that can be rendered any country is, to add a useful plant to its culture, especially a bread grain; next in value to bread is oil.

In little disputes with your companions, give way rather than insist on trifles, for their love and the approbation of others will be worth more to you than the trifles in dispute.

Whenever you feel a warmth of temper arising, check it at once and suppress it, recollecting it would make you unhappy within yourself and disliked by others.

I served with General Washington in the Legislature of Virginia before the Revolution, and, during it with Doctor Franklin in Congress. I never heard either of them speak ten minutes at a time, nor to any but the main point, which to decide the question.

Mr. D. S. Turner, who is in charge of all school farm operations, reports that if the good weather continues for a few days longer all crops will have been planted. This sounds good.

Mr. Reuben Sanders, one of our employes, has the distinction of making a most unusual play recently while active on the Oak Knoll golf links. He made what is called "a hole in one," that is he drove the ball 180 yards right into the hole in one stroke. This does not happen often.

Recently there were five scholarships in any branch of the greater University of Montana offered to outstanding members of the 4-H clubs of Blaine county, Montana. Of the five winners two were Indian girls, Theresa DeCelles and Cecelia Strongarm. Now, here is an item that pleases us ever so much. This should be an inspiration for other Indian youths who are seeking to place themselves in some worthwhile place or occupation.

Mr. Bent, our chief advisor for boys, will have quite a busy summer no doubt. In the fore part of July he will be one of the camp directors for a troop of boy scouts at Taylor's Grove on the north fork of the Santiam river. From July 16th until the first week in August he will act in the same capacity for a party of Y. M. C. A boys and young men who will go into camp at Ocean Side beach, near Tillamook. It looks like Mr. Bent is going to have his hands full.

Supt. Lipps responded to a request last Sunday evening in chapel and told an "Uncle Remus" story as related to the second generation. There is no denying the fact that we enjoy these stories as told by our Superintendent, and we are not alone in our enjoyment by any means. Although they are related primarily for our younger students, they seem to have fully as great an appeal for our grown-ups. Mr. Lipps was raised in the South and he possesses a splendid background for these stories, and lives them. He enjoys them and so do all of us. In closing his talk of the evening he addressed a few serious remarks to our students on their school work and their vacation periods soon to arrive. It was a fine chapel in every way. Introductory to the Superintendent's talk the orchestra played "Uncle Remus Tells a Story" by Zamecnik. The choir sang a good number at close of the exercises.
