THE SENIOR NOTES

Have you noticed that breakfast has been served right on time at Crampton Hall? The big reason is the senior girls get up early to serve it. We are all enjoying our work with Mrs. Larsen and Mrs. Rodgers.

Bertha Peratrovich, Thelma Doore, Emma Red, Agnes Smith and Hattie Hayden have moved into the practice house, formerly the superintendent's cottage.

Hazel Pete broke her arm while taking her daily lesson in tennis.

Elizabeth Ides has left for her home in Neah Bay, Washington, due to the illness of her mother. We all hope she will return soon.

"First aid dressings" are appearing neater. I wonder why? Seniors, that's why.

The senior boys have improved in penmanship, for much writing appears daily on the blackboard of our science room. "Hand it over to them."

Rosalia Grounds has been substituting for Mrs. Edwards; teaching the sixth grade. It seems that Rosalia's goal is to sit behind the desk in future years.

Jesse Jim was hurt in the gymnasium class on Tuesday afternoon. He was immediately taken to the hospital, where several stitches were taken on his head.

Hear Ye, Everybody! A vaudeville—sponsored by the Senior class, January the thirtieth, in the auditorium. Save your nickels and dimes.

The members of the senior class wish to express their sympathy to a classmate, Laura Buffalo Boy, who has recently received news of the death of her father.
