George Meachem, class of 1929, has enrolled at Bacon College in Oklahoma to pursue his studies.

Pat Kelly, a Chemawa graduate of the class of 1930, returned recently to finish his course in tailoring.

Emma Redd, graduate of the class of '32, is now working as a nurse in a hospital at Poplar, Montana.

Hazel Pete, one of the graduates of last year, is leaving for Santa Fe, New Mexico, to study Indian Art.

Mr. Edgar Simmons writes from Sherman Institute subscribing for The American. He enjoys his work, he states, and is getting along well.

The Indian Art department recently moved to the art building which was vacated by Mrs. Wallace. As soon as the department is settled, Mrs. James reports, exhibits will be on display.

Many students and employees from Chemawa were in Portland on Oct. 1 to witness the Stanford-Oregon State football battle and again last Saturday to see Oregon and Washington in action.

Two girls from the Child Care Class are taking instruction from Miss Funk in manicuring and finger-waving. Alva Tice, a new arrival, now makes the tenth operator in the beauty parlor.

At chapel Sunday night Supt. Ryan spoke a few words of appreciation for the orchestral and vocal music heard at our Sunday evening gatherings. The orchestra, a quartet of girls and the choir each contributed a number.

The officers of the Y. W. C. A. met for their first regular cabinet meeting on Tuesday in which plans and programs for the year were discussed, and committees appointed. Florence Allman is president, Esther Hillman vice-president, Violet Johnson secretary and Alleta Goodbird is treasurer.

Last Wednesday afternoon the women of the First Christian church in Salem were guests of Mrs. Teter and Miss Eakin in the Y. W. C. A. room at Chemawa. A feature of the afternoon's program was an inspection trip through several of the school departments, conducted by members of the Y. W. C. A. These girls also assisted in serving during tea hour and the Chemawa Sextet sang two selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Topash of the Genoa school in Nebraska visited friends and relatives at Chemawa last week. Mr. Topash is clerk in the Genoa office. Mrs. Topash was formerly Viola Jones. Both are graduates of Haskell Institute.

The Utica Jubilee singers of the Utica Normal and Industrial Institute, Utica, Miss., will perform in the Chemawa auditorium on Nov. 5. These world famous artists will be worth hearing and it is hoped that all Chemawaites turn out for their concert.

Since the last issue of The American a new subscription arrived from an old student who wanted to keep tab on her alma mater. Mrs. Ramona Starritt of Orleans, Cal., known to her schoolmates as Ramona Tripp, is the lady in question and she wishes to be remembered to her friends.

Mr. G. DeCorah, instructor in shoe-repairing at Chemawa, received a fine write-up in the Orgonian of Sunday, Oct. 2. The article told of his work as a leader in the Boy Scout organization and amongst his people and was illustrated by a picture of Mr. DeCorah in Indian custom.

The gym was a scene of a variety of athletic entertainment Saturday night. Six girls' organizations were represented in three volleyball games and the evening wound up with a basketball game between Amera's Blackhawks and a pick-up team of local stars, the Blackhawks emerging victorious after an overtime period. The game was a thriller.

The painters are all busy repainting the interior of the "bachelors' quarters" getting it ready for Mr. Smith and family. The complete force is working on this, so it will soon be in first class order. They recently did a fine job of painting in a room in the printing department—sponging the walls, varnishing the floor and painting all the wood work.

The girls of the Practice House have been very busy the past week in serving informal dinners to their friends and have enjoyed it very much. This is their last week in the Practice House and they say that they dread the thought of leaving it because it has been such a wonderful lesson and experience for them. They wish to acknowledge their most sincere appreciation to Miss Newell.
