

CHEMAWA AWARDED GAME

In the regular playing time Hood River high school defeated Chemawa 7-0 in an Armistice day game, but we were awarded the game because Hood River played an ineligible man, Tom Swanson, who scored all of his team's points. Swanson is a tenth term student. Chemawa is undefeated for the season but is out of the running for the state championship.

Chemawa played listless ball during the first half and allowed Hood River to badly outplay us and score its seven points. Hood River made 8 first downs to none for Chemawa in the first half.

During the second half the team played good football and kept in Hood River territory most of the time but lacked the punch to score. During this half Hood River was held to one first down while the Indians gained six.

Swanson, fullback, and Turner quarter were the outstanding members of the apple pickers. Meachem and Cook were outstanding on defense. Meachem's line plunging gained most of Chemawa's yardage.

Chemawa's traditional rival, Salem high, will be played next on Sweetland field in a night game on Thanksgiving. Let's all get out there and back the team with loud cheering in the last big game of a successful season. This will be the farewell game for Roy Meachem, Howard Churchill, Ben Iyall, Leonard Vivette and Leonard John.

ORGANIZATIONS

Only three students have responded to the request for members for the Reliance club. Come on boys, let's get this club going! Boys who wish to become members report to the sponsor, Mr. Fisher.

Sunday, Nov. 13, the Y. W. C. A. girls gave a World Fellowship program. The topics discussed were on fellowship and peace. A skit was given to show how dependent the nations of the world are upon each other. Sunday, Nov. 20, the Y. W. and Y. M. held a joint meeting.

The boys' and girls' dramatic club, under the leadership of Miss Wentzel, held their meeting a week ago and had try-outs for membership. Thirteen girls and two boys succeeded in getting on the roll call. At the next meeting they will elect officers and name their club.

The senior-junior girls' dramatic club held their meeting in the old commercial room, Monday, Nov. 14.

They initiated two new members into the club. Wilma Lehr and Lorraine Dennis. A short program of nursery rhymes was given. The sponsor, Miss White, gave a talk on the program for the year. Monday, the 21st, we gave a Thanksgiving play.

The Little Flower society, a Catholic organization for high school girls, held their first meeting Tuesday evening, November 15. Miss Roddy acted as chairman, while the following officers were elected: President, Alice Ladderoute; vice-president, Melba Arnoux; secretary, Emma Celestine; treasurer, Anna White; reporter, Josephine Whitebear; sergeant-at-arms, Marie La France; song leader, Alice Slater; critic, Lucy Billy.

On the evening of Nov. 11, the Excelsior club came together for an Armistice program. The program consisted of a few musical selections by the well known quartet, Joe White, Oscar Braden, Lewis Pitt and Peter LeVay. Leo Cottonoir entertained us with some jokes. The topic for discussion was: Resolved that horses are more practical and economical than tractors. The tractors won by a large margin. Prohibition will be our next topic for discussion. We hope to have all members present to discuss this very important subject that has swept the whole country by storm.

Junior Red Cross held their weekly meeting at the Doctor's cottage, Monday 14. We are making dolls to send to Siletz and Grande Ronde for Christmas gifts and a scrap book for the younger patients in child hospitals. The girls who were in the practice house are very glad upon being able to return to the hospital, although their return caused the loss of Melba, Marie, Alice and Dora from our hospital force. We are all rejoicing as Doctor Sisco is on his way to recovery. Miss Fout has decided to pick out an honor student from the junior and senior divisions so as to avoid confusion in the spirits.

For the first time this year on Nov. 9, 1932, the letter men's organization came to order for the election of officers, which resulted as follows. President, Warren Wilder; vice-president, Leonard Vivette; secretary, Vincent Pratt; treasurer, Domonic Dogeagle. Business that needed immediate threshing out was discussed. A pep rally, to precede the Hood River game was urged. The right kind of management for future athletic programs was carefully talked over. Because of the expenses of athletic activities, it was decided that each individual member should encourage the season ticket sale. We want to be of service but just have to have the co-operation on the part of every one.
