

204

NOV 12 1933

CHEMAWA AMERICAN

Printed at Chemawa, Oregon, and Devoted to the Interests of Indian Education

VOL. XXXV

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 8, 1933

NO. 3

SIoux AND CROW FRIENDS

The article reprinted below appeared in a special article in the Oregonian for Nov. 5:

Among the residents of Grover cottage, Linfield's dormitory for women, are two dusky-skinned daughters of the original Americans, Miss Charlotte Jordan of Rosebud, S. D., and Miss Josephine Pease of Lodge Grass, Mont.

Miss Jordan is a descendant of the Sioux tribe, while Miss Pease traces her Indian ancestry back to the Crows. According to Miss Jordan, the two tribes were formerly bitter enemies. "If my grandfather knew I was rooming with a Crow he would turn over in his grave," she laughed.

The grandfather of Miss Pease, whose name was White Man Runs Him, was a scout under General Custer. He was buried with honors by the United States army following the massacre of Custer's men by the Sioux. Her great-grandfather was the first superintendent for the Indians, appointed by General Grant.

Miss Jordan's grandmother is a niece of Chiet Red Cloud, one of the most famous of the Sioux Indians. Miss Jordan has also a white ancestry that would be the envy of the most aristocratic. She is eligible for membership to the Daughters of the American Revolution. One of her forebears, Oceanus Hopkins, was the first child born on the Mayflower. The Ward and Jordan castles in northern Ireland are possessions of her family. Miss Jordan has many relatives in Portland, but with whom she is not acquainted.

Miss Jordan spent one year at Chemawa and a term at Willamette before coming to Linfield. Miss Pease received all her earlier education in the public schools at Lodge Grass. The former is taking a pre-medic course while the latter is majoring in business.

Both of the young women are intensely interested in their college work, and both like western Oregon. Miss Jordan came west two years ago.

NEWS NOTES

Alice Jones one of our outing students in Salem, was stricken suddenly with appendicitis on Oct. 2, She was immediately operated upon by our school physician, Dr. Laban Steeves, and she is now on the road to health again. Dr. Steeves also performed an appendectomy for Dorothy Adams on Tuesday, Oct. 31. She is also getting along well.

The grapevine telegraph reports that on the morning of Nov. 30 there may be emanating from the portals of both employees' and students' kitchens the faint but tantalizing aroma of turkey in the process of roasting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lobdell, retired employees living in Salem, entertained several Chemawa friends at their home last Wednesday evening. The party was in the nature of a surprise for Mr. Lobdell. The guests reported an unusually enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Carrie Wilcox, genial house mother in Winona hall, recently paid a visit to her daughter in Portland. On this occasion she saw several of our outing students and reported them as being in good health and enjoying their work, as well as giving perfect satisfaction to their employers.

Carl Muller paid his friends at Chemawa a brief visit last Saturday and Sunday. Carl, since his last visit in the spring, has been working on the U. S. S. Surveyor straightening out the Alaskan coast line and shooting Alaska bear and other forms of wild life during his spare time.

THEY'S something kindo' harty-like about the atmusfere
When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here—

Of course we miss the flowers, and the blossums
on the trees,

And the mumble of the hummin'-birds and buzz-
in' of the bees;

But the air's so appetizin'; and the landscape
through the haze

Of a crisp and sunny morning of the airly autumn days

Is a pictur' that no painter has the colorin'
to mock—

When the frost is on the
punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

—James Whitcomb Riley

