Wesley Larson is here for a brief visit. He is working for the IECW in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Melovidoff and their two children were guests at the employees' club Nov. 30.

The Misses Charlotte Jordon and Josephine Pease of Linfield college, McMinnville, Ore., spent a pleasant Thanksgiving at Chemawa with friends.

Mrs. Charles E. Larsen's Thanksgiving was made very pleasant by the visit of her mother, Mrs. E. A. Loughrey, and her sisters who make their home in Indianola, Wash.

Edward Nanpooia, a former student, is working, presumably with the IECW, surveying land between the Coulee dam and Nespelem, Wash., preparatory to building a road between these two points.

Miss Antoinette White and Georgie "Pumpkin" Bent were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hauser and family on Thanksgiving and in the evening they attended the program of the music clubs at Winona Hall.

Mrs. Philip Olney, accompanied by her daughter, Marie, and son, Willard, and lady friend, Amy Kelly, motored down from Yakima, Wash., to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with her daughter, Miss Gladys Olney.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Mason recently attended an ice hockey game in Portland between the Portland Buckaroos and the Edmonton Eskimos. They are ardent hockey fans now that they have discovered the fastest and most exciting game known to man.

The tailors, under the critical eye of their instructor, Mr. James, are up to their ears in work, mostly suits and trousers for various members of our large Chemawa family. We are informed that Frank Amyotte is expressing his passion for flannel cloth in a pair of flannel trousers of a striking design.

A host of employees and their guests enjoyed a very fine dinner on Nov. 30 at the club dining room. By actual count there were some 52 persons served which caused the club kitchen mistress and her staff no little amount of work but they were amply repaid for their labor by the generous and sincere praise of the meal by the people fortunate enough to be present at that time.

Mr. Joseph Matte and Mr. Arnold McKay were Portland visitors last Saturday.

Bernice Clairmont visited in Woodburn during the Thanksgiving holiday with friends.

Miss Newell had as guests for Thanksgiving dinner Charlotte Jordan and Josephine Pease.

Mr. and Mrs. Shawver, we learn, entertained sixteen relatives at dinner Thanksgiving evening.

Mrs. Wilcox was visited by her daughter and grandchildren on Thanksgiving and the week-end following.

The student dance last Friday was a success, as everyone will attest, although the regular orchestra was engaged elsewhere.

Emma Celestine, a former student, returned last week and informs us that she is here to complete her vocational course in home economics.

Miss Semanski was the guest of Miss Wallacs, dean of women at Willamette, on Nov. 24, and visited all around the university where she has numerous friends.

Lenora Harris spent the week-end following Thanksgiving in Salem with her friend Alice Jones. Dorothy Parker was the guest of Lucy Billy who also works in the capital city.

Marjorie Melovidoff entertained five friends, Francis James, Mary Hauser, Betty Mae Allen and Betty and Kathryn Shawver at a birthday dinner party recently. The evening was spent in playing games and singing.

Mr. Shilling and Mr. Smith left for Klamath agency Klamath, Ore., on a combination vacation and duck-hunting trip. They are expected to bring home enough birds for a holiday feast. At any rate we hope they have a good time.

Mesdames Wilcox, Smith, Carrow, Mason, Hauser and Shawver and Misses Hoffman, Lundquist, Judd and Strauch, were formerly initiated into the Y. W. C. A. as honorary members Tuesday evening November 28. After the service a light lunch was served.

Last Tuesday Miss Semanski and Mrs. Wilcox were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Ryan at the home of the superintendent. Both ladies declared that they never had a more cheerful and satisfying turkey dinner and were especially pleased with the way the entire meal was served by Bernice Clairmont. Incidentally, they informed us that Mrs. Ryan is looking very much like her former self and feeling just that way also.
