PACIFIC COLLEGIANS ARE DEFEATED BY CHEMAWA

Braves Get Revenge From Hubbard From Early Season Defeat

Going out of their way as of in the "days of old" the Chemawa Braves defeated the Pacific Collegians in an exciting extra inning game here on April 17th.

The game started with Slickpoo on the mound and Katchia with the mattress.

The game started with a bahg when the Braves started the scoring and led until the fourth inning when the Collegians staged a light rally to relieve Chemawa of their small lead making the score 5-3. In the ninth inning Chemawa tied the score and in an extra stanza, Dowd, Brave outfielder, made his first hit of the season by hitting a three bagger to let Hilburn score and break the tie for a final score of 5-6, in the Braves favor.

Last Friday, in a mud soaked field, Chemawa walloped the Hubbard High school baseball team by a score of 12-1.

Chemawa led by a score of four to one until the seventh inning when the Indians made eight runs and were still batting when the game was called because of rain. Wilder set the Hubbard sluggers down with but three bingles while he struck out fifteen. On one occasion the bases were loaded and Wilder struck out two men to retire the side.

Salem's baseball team went home without a "morsel of bacon" last Friday when the Indians kept the Senators side of the blackboard free from any chalk marks until the final inning when the score had to be written in this manner, 5-0.

Coach Dwight McKenney started a new pitcher on the mound, an appropriate name for his ability with the "spit ball," Slickpoo, don't be mislead folks, that's his real name. He allowed one hit and struck out seven men during the first four innings. Captain Wilder then took over the mound duties and did a thorough job by forbidding anyone to reach first base in the remainder of the game.

Cyrus Katchia knocked the first home run of the season in the sixth inning.

Chemawa, Salem, Forest Grove, and Turner high schools, divided honors in the quadrangular meet held at Chemawa two weeks ago. In spite of the mud and rain Chemawa placed in enough events to rate second in the meet, allowing Salem to take first by a margin of four points.

First place honors for Chemawa were taken by Adams, 100 yard dash; Lodge, broad jump; H. Settler, javelin; and the relay team composed of Bazil, Archambeau, Roy Track, and M. Adams. Second place honors went to Arnoux for the pole vault and shot put, and to Alec Douglas for the half mile.

Chemawa's relay teams journeyed to Vancouver last Friday to participate in the evening relays.

In the 880 relay Chemawa placed second in their heat but lost out in the finals.

For the Junior division Chemawa placed third, and the team failed to place in the upper division.

Linfield College Gives Program

A very interesting program was brought to Chemawa by a group of people from Linfield College at McMinnville, Oregon, on April 11. Miss Martha Bingham introduced Dr. Branton, who is a religious instructor at the college. Dr. Branton introduced Miss Dyer who played two piano solos which were enjoyed by everyone. He then presented to us Miss Spunky, who played two violin solos accompanied by Miss Dyer. One of the violin solos was a number written by a graduate of Chemawa entitled, "Profiles in the Night."

Dr. Branton spoke on a subject that was of interest to everyone. He told of how each and every one of us is suited for something and that we might accomplish this ambition if we were determined to do it. His speech was well received by everyone.

Mrs. Wilcox, a former employee of Chemawa, greeted her old friends again and extended an invitation to everyone to come to Linfield College to visit.
