

Chemawa American

A Publication Devoted to the Progress of Indian Education

VOLUME XXXXI

CHEMAWA, OREGON OCTOBER 22, 1940

NUMBER ONE

Registration Beckons "Old Fellows," Chemawa Hails Fourteen

Six enrolled students, six employees of the school, and two N.Y.A. boys registered at the local board last week on October 16.

In response to the President's message, which he called for every eligible American to offer his services for the defense program now under way, Chemawa contributed no less than fourteen to the Army.

The person who registers and qualifies, is given a card with a serial number sent from Washington, D.C. The order number on the card determines when he shall be called for service, unless he is in a deferred class. If he is deferred he is classified in classification two, three, or four.

His classification depends upon the local board, which decides whether he shall be deferred or eligible for service. This is determined by information given on the "questionnaire" which is filled out under oath by the registrant.

A registered student was asked by a reporter of the Chemawa American, what he would miss the most when he leaves Chemawa.

His answer was, "Things which I will miss after I leave are: my gal, eats, the boys, and that four o'clock appointment with Mr. Rickard."

Girls' Quintette Entertain Salem Kiwanis Club

The Girls' Quintette, a musical group under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Turney, entertained the Kiwanis Club of Salem at the Marion Hotel on October 8th. This quintette of girls entertains not only here at Chemawa, but for many other Salem clubs and organizations, and in other surrounding towns. They put on programs consisting of Indian songs, legends, and sign language, and usually dress in the native Indian dress. Members of the Quintette are Juanita Pablo, Pearl Deernose, Doris Ingawanup, Rosanna Stacona, and Kathryn Jones.

Chemawa Employees Enjoy Depoe Bay Celebration

Sunday, October 13, the warmest of the season was a perfect Indian summer day for the Government Point Potlatch put on by the North Lincoln Chamber of Commerce for the 300 Indians of the North West. The celebration beginning on Friday, lasted for three days.

The Indians were from Siletz and Grand Ronde. There were many gay festive dances put on by the Indians. The oldest dancer was Martha Johnson from Siletz, and reigning over the celebration as a Princess was Anna Bell Simmons, a young Indian maiden also from Siletz, Oregon.

Among those attending from Chemawa were the James' the Sanders', Mr. Warren Wilder, Miss Myrtle Peters, and her guest, Pauline Cook. Mr. Sanders and Mr. James took part in preparing the salmon for the bake, in the olden Indian style.

New Employees

Mr. Gilbert Pepper, formerly of Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kansas, is with us as the instructor in Baking.

Miss Carrie Sadongei, coming to Chemawa from Warm Springs, Oregon, is a member of the Home Economics staff.

Miss Sina Thompson, a member of last years graduating class, is with us this year as assistant matron in Winona hall.

Mrs. Floy Childress Pepper, here from the Fort Sill Indian School at Lawton, Oklahoma, teaching General Science, and Arts and Crafts.

Miss Ruth Evelyn Morse, who formerly taught at Haskell Institute, Lawrence, Kansas, is teaching eighth grade English, eleventh grade English, and tenth and twelfth grade Social Science.

Mr. Harold Salter, who taught at the Turtle Mountain Indian Reservation, at Belcourt, North Dakota, before coming to Chemawa, is teaching Freshmen Science, Senior Science, Seventh and Eight grade Mathematics and Social Science.

Jasm Isn't in Dictionary

It wasn't a modern college president but an old-timer who used to tell his students, "You must have jasm if you want to amount to anything in this world."

When they complained that they could not find the word in the dictionary, he replied, "Jasm is that something that makes a buzz saw cut its way through a keg of ten-penny nails."—Clipped