

"Three Bright"
SENIORS

It was in the sunny little town of Orleans, California, on January 26, 1924, that the tiny baby girl, who is Lorraine Short, had her first glimpse of the world. After finishing eight years of hard studying in the school at Orleans, she came to Chemawa where she has attended each successive year. "Bobbie," as she is known to her friends, is taking commercial—for her highest ambition is to be a nurse. She is the secretary of the Senior class, and is also the secretary of the YWCA. Bobbie, because she is a studious and bright little girl, has been on the honor roll for the last three years. Her hobbies are collecting songs and pictures of her friends. Her favorite past-time is "socialing". She likes dancing, swimming, basketball, and finds much pleasure in trying out new recipes. Her motto is "A smile for everyone" for she delights in having many friends and in joking with others. Bobbie can often be found reading an adventure book by either of her favorite authors, Zane Grey or James Oliver Curwood. To a well-liked Senior girl then, we give our best wishes for a long and happy life.

Way back in 1922, on the bright day of June 17, a little bundle of joy marked "Nellie Walters," made its first appearance in the world at Heart Butte, Montana. This bundle of joy grew to a little girl, who passed her first six years of school in Browning, Montana, and the next two at Bismark, North Dakota. Hearing about Chemawa she trotted down here as fast as she could, and is finishing her fourth and last year in Home Economics studies.

She is a very active girl, and has chosen for her hobbies, all kinds of sports. Her favorite sports are horse-back riding, roller-skating, and dancing. She also enjoys reading books of a romantic nature. Her ambition is to work in a hospital as a nurse, or assistant.

She has been a member of the Winona Council for three of her four years at Chemawa, and is head officer this year. Besides being a council member, Nellie is the student body's chosen song queen, and is cheerleader of the Senior class.

She likes "lots of eats," and her favorite dish is meat or pickles. The only time we see a frown on her forehead is just before she tackles her night-work.

She has the faculties that make her every body's friend, a good personality, willingness to cooperate, reliability, and loyalty.

When Nellie leaves us this year, she will leave a memory that most of us will cherish. So, to Nellie, may the future bring all the success and happiness so deserved by a girl like her.

February 25, 1923, is the birthday of Marjorie Clara, the quietest of the Skahan twins from Yakima, Washington. She remained there until she became two years of age; then because Toppish was a larger town she packed her little grip and moved in. After staying in this place long enough to secure her grade school education Marjorie then traveled to Chemawa.

In the eighth grade Miss Skahan came here to render her services to our school for five years. Now a senior she is concentrating on Commercial. Her ambition is to be a private secretary because the pay will be much more than what other positions provide. We are assured that she will do well in this course of life that she has chosen because Marjorie is known for her ability to study.

Keep Climbing

Don't feel badly because you haven't arrived at your final goal in life. Don't pity yourself because life is still a struggle. The days on the way up are the glorious days. They are the days of the big thrills and the great adventures.

After Jim Jeffries won the heavy-weight crown he found that life lost much of its zest and glamour. When he returned home from a tour of Europe and began to train to defend his title against Jack Sharkey he learned something about being champion. "I found that the guy that was up there couldn't work as well as a guy that was on his way," he says in a Saturday Evening post article. "I worked hard for Sharkey. I put in seven weeks of the toughest kind of training. I didn't eat it up the way I used to; it was just work. I guess the same happens to anybody else that gets where he is going and has nothing to do but stay there. It gets to be just work."

Blessed is the man with new worlds to conquer. For him the future gleams with promise. He never attains ultimate success—is never satisfied—is ever on the way to better things. Ahead of him there is always another dream castle glittering in the sun—and what fun it is to build foundations under it!—SHOP TALK

SOME LOCAL WORCHESTER grafter was freed by the court. There was no doubt in the minds of reputable citizens that he belonged in jail. George Booth, publisher of the Worcester Gazette, merely printed this stinging line in his editorial column: "Not Guilty—But don't do it again!"
