Editorial

Happy New Year! to you, and you, and especially to you! As the bells chime in the new year, may they ring the bells of Love, Kindness, and Mercy in the lofty towers of your heart, so that you can help the light of the World enter the darkened hearts of those who are less fortunate than you. Show them your love, kindness, and mercy in your heart by being their friend. Be generous with your kindness and mercy, helping them in anyway you can. Help the sick, the poor, and the unhappy; encourage them to go onward, hoping ever. Help them to face the coming year with hope and perseverance, so that they can fulfill their greatest ambitions for happiness.

You can lend a bit of hearty advice to those unfortunate ones who are despairing for their futures. Give them all the encouragement that you can give, for if you give to the world, the best that you have, the best will come back to you. Show your love for your friends, neighbors, and even to those who are not enthusiastic about your friendship. Have a smile for everyone.

Be kind to everyone, rich and poor alike. Show equal friendship with all of them, for every man is just as good as the next one. Do your part in helping humanity gain a greater throne on earth. Give all you can—from a penny to dollars to the Red Cross; give optimistic advice to the hopeless; give yourself to helping others in the new year, by being unselfish. Do what you can for the person next to you.

So in the new year, write your name with Love, Kindness, and Mercy on the hearts of those about you and you will never be forgotten, through all of the new years to come in the future. In the end, when you might need a friend, you need not look very far to find one. If you sincerely try to help others in this new year, YOUR new year will be as full of happiness as it could possibly be.

Mr. George P. LaVatta was a recent visitor on the campus. Mr. LaVatta and the Homeroom sponsors had a discussion about the progress of the health projects and other business in the Homerooms.

Mrs. Florence Johnson is a new employee on the campus, taking Mrs. Heitner's position of matron at McBride hall. Mrs. Heitner is now a hospital assistant.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left for San Francisco, California, on Saturday, December 14, to attend the National Conference of the American Vocational Association.

Mr. E.F. Pillsbury, Supervisor of Telephone Construction, from the Indian Office in Salt Lake City, Utah, was here in connection with his official duties.

Dr. R.S. Lloyd and Miss Louise Lauremann conducted two weeks of sulphanilamide treatment for trachoma. They have left the campus on Friday, December 13, having completed the treatments.

Visitors on the campus on Sunday, December 8th, included a few soldiers, some who were former students of Chemawa. These were Matt Adams, Herman Redelk, both from Camp Murray, Washington, and Jay Heddrick, from Tacoma. Others were Leonard Dupree, Johnnie Dupree, and Henry Mail, also from Camp Murray.

Saturday evening, December 7, proved to be one of the gayest evenings of the year, for the Senior Carnival, with the many booths, and the dancing, provided very much entertainment for all who attended. Prizes were awarded to Mary Lucy Andrews, Alice Samuels, and Eva Queapama for their lucky tickets.
