Editorial

Are you in favor of organizing an All-Indian Youth Organization? It may be well to think about it, for the coming Indian Youth Conference to be held here February 17 to 21, inclusive, will have sessions especially to discuss such an organization. This organization will be similar to the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Club. The purpose of those attending the conference will be to discuss and correct the problems of agriculture, farm and home mechanics, home making, and to consider the development of an All-Indian Youth Organization for rural young people. Such an organization could offer much toward bettering rural life; it could provide entertainment, and recreational activities, and develop leadership. Rural Youth Organizations such as the 4-H Club, Girls Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Future Farmers of America are fine examples of clubs for rural young people.

At the conference to be held in February, the Indian delegates are to discuss the advantages and purposes of having an All-Indian Youth organization, and to decide whether or not such a club should be started.—STANLEY WILLIAMS

What can you do for Chemawa during the year 1941? What can you do in return for the education, the privileges, and the friends that you make here? Are you capable of doing something for Chemawa while you're here? Surely you are! Just as capable as anyone else. One thing you can do for Chemawa in 1941 is be loyal above all else. Prove that you are grateful for the privilege of being here, for the opportunities offered you by the school. Be true to the colors that wave above the name "Chemawa."

Another way of doing something for yourself or your school is to uphold the rules and regulations. They are set before you for you to obey and respect during your stay here. And, following in that line, be a good sport. Show good sportsmanship wherever you are, whether it is on the campus or elsewhere. Always be one who is said to be—"a good sport, and an equally good booster." Still another way to give in return for what you are taking is to be of service to the school. Be willing to work and serve Chemawa, and work well. Do what you can to keep building Chemawa by doing your part, regardless of how small, and unnoticed your service might be. Fifth and last, advertise Chemawa in the best manner that you can. That is, conduct yourself properly both on and away from the campus. Show people that you are a Chemawa student and that you are proud of it! Uphold the morale of the school and do it so that others will respect our school.

These are but a few of the things that you can do for Chemawa in 1941. Be loyal, uphold the rules and regulations, show good sportsmanship, and be a good booster, be of service and work well, and advertise Chemawa in a manner that proves you are proud of it.—MARJORIE SKAHAN
