asked to place the cows as to their judgment. After all present had made their placements. Mr. Thomas placed the cows as he thought they should be. The boys and a few of the employees had them properly placed. Many questions were asked of the boys and their knowledge of judging cows was amazing.

On January 30, a picture demonstration of 4-H Club activities of boys and girls in Oregon, and under the direction of Wayne D. Harding, was given for the benefit of Chemawa Indian School 4-H Clubbers. The boys and girls were greatly interested in the scenes and remarks by Mr. Harding. The feature event of the meeting was a 4-H Club talk by Robert Zelinski, a local boy, who has had seven years in club work and is one of America's outstanding champions in 4-H Club work. His talk was earnest and genuine, and deeply impressed his audience.

The girls' angle of club work was discussed in an able manner by Mrs. Floy C. Pepper, a member of the Home Economics staff of our school. Mrs. Pepper is a former 4-H Club girl who made an outstanding 4-H record while in Oklahoma, and claims much of her success in life is due to 4-H Club work. Her discussion was inspiring and interesting. Mrs. Pepper's pleasing personality, ability as a speaker, and enthusiasm for club work fits her well for local leadership of the 4-H girls. On February 1, the employees met with the girls' group to find out how girls do 4-H Club work.

George P. LaVatta, field agent in the Indian Service, created much added interest in 4-H Club work by his forceful discussion of this work. Mr. LaVatta sees much valuable training in Club work.

All 4-H. Clubbers are working enthusiastically and will strive to give a good account of themselves during the conference beginning February 17, and throughout their club year.

FARM CLUB

This club, whose members are Calvin Leader, Ben Finley, Carl Leader, Bill Williamson, and Fred Whitworth are under the leadership of Mr. Frank Lane and Claude Loveall are setting a real pace for all 4-H Clubbers. They are becoming very adept in the handling of horses and care of farm barn equipment. They have also learned how to splice rope, make rope halters, and repair bridles.

Plowing is on their program now. Wednesday they were out with their mule, horse, and walking plow and were doing very good plowing practices.

The mule knows the boys thoroughly, for he stops very often to let the "boys" rest.

PIG CLUB

Elmer Benton, the new 4-H pig club member, is learning the swine business. Each morning at 7:15 he is out with his leader, Mr. Fred Ratzburg. At 7:30 a.m. find him at the swine houses where he is learning how to feed, manage, and care for pigs. For thirty minutes each day he studies the pig club bulletins, and we are expecting him to soon be one of our best authorities of swine. Elmer is a fine boy and is deeply interested in his work and is going to make good. The agricultural instructor is now beginning demonstration instructions in teaching pig club boys how to judge swine. During the conference at Chemawa, which begins on February 17, these boys will demonstrate their judging ability for the benefit of the public. Like all 4-H demonstrations so far put on by the Indian boys, this one will be well worth seeing.

Girls' Vocation

sewing on serge shirts. They are preparing reports on grooming, materials and the weaves of materials.

The sophomore sewing class are making dresses, housecoats, and pajamas as their sewing projects. They are studying the parts of the sewing machine as a part of their work. The girls have been making a research of the styles of the past years, and how they effect the present style of dresses.

The Child Care class is learning the proper care and treatment of a child, and they practice their problems of caring for a child with a very large doll.
