

From the Vocational Departments

ELECTRIC SHOP: Chester Paul, Sammy Danzuka, and Henry Courville have cut the old Winona hall over to another service and are adjusting repairs of the present service.

The boys have changed the lighting system at the principle's office at the High School. They have also wired the Agricultural barn.

Chester Paul and Elmer Booth have been working on telephone lines.

In a recent class meeting the boys learned how to light a house, and the amount of voltage going into the house.

KITCHEN: "Foreman" Marjorie Pablo and her assistant "Montana Red" have reported that the case of "the salt in the coffee" has been solved. They say some boy was careless in what he was doing.

Rosemary Aubrey and Esther Young Swallow tried a new recipe for pudding.

Last week the students cut 1000 pounds of meat.

PAINT SHOP: Robert Charles, Thomas Carson, and their Instructor, Mr. Sanders, have been quite busy. Lately, they have been enameling the woodwork in the Practice House. Also, in the Practice House, they are putting on wall paper.

After they are through with the Practice House they plan to paint two rooms in Hawley Hall.

BAKERY: The bakery production for the past week was, 850 loaves of bread, 1200 dinner rolls, 11 pans of orange cake, 100 apple pies, 700 doughnuts, 600 cup cakes, 600 oatmeal cookies and 10 pans of lemon cake. The special production of the bake shop was 400 maple bars for the sophomore benefit dance.

MACHINE SHOP: The Machine shop boys have been welding and cutting rollers for the tractor. Berger, Jackson, Bolton and "Gob" Maxwell miss the basketball which they used every morning to warm up.

Bolton is the crack machinist for running the lathe. He is doing the cutting down of the tractor rollers.

Berger has also been doing a little welding on car fenders.

BARBER SHOP: The Barbershop is keeping the boys from losing their girls by trimming their hair. Also, Beaudry is specializing on cutting the girls' hair. Why does Woundedeye always ask the little girls if they got a big sister?

TAILOR SHOP: Two boys are making pennants, Henry Hilaire and Francis Lane. Dawn McCloud is making button holes and is improving rapidly. Wilfred Buber and Clarence LaRoque are making a draft for a vest. George Quintasket is making a coat. George Bearcloud is finishing a pair of trousers for Herbert Bennett.

CARPENTRY: Ray Brady is repairing chairs for the dining hall. Frank Backbone is putting the finishing touches on his excellent lamp. A new front door was made by Jake Enick for Mr. Showalter's former residence. Paul LaRoque is making a dough box for the Bakery. And who is going to wear all of those hearts made by Lodge and Whitford? Halfmoon and Grant are working in Mrs. Pepper's classroom. We hope they are doing a good job.

SEWING: The majority of the Senior girls have completed their graduation dresses while others are finishing theirs. Nellie Walter, Marie Hall, Lucille Nessbaum, and Theda Ashue are sewing on their lined, woolen jacket problem, and have been doing good work. Several girls have made serge skirts to go with their jackets. All of them are doing knitting, and have selected either sweaters, scarfs, or caps, as their project. They are also studying problems of dry-cleaning, personal grooming, textiles and styles of dress.

The sophomore girls have completed their house coats, and have started on their serge or woolen problems.

As their class unit, the freshman have started on hot bread for breakfast. They plan to prepare and serve a simple breakfast.

FRESHMAN CLOTHING: These girls are working on the construction of slips, and have started sewing flannel pajamas. They are studying about the value and care of clothing.

PRODUCTIVE SEWING: The Junior girls are sewing on aprons, caps, and curtains in this class.

JUNIOR HOME MANAGEMENT: The girls in this class are planing a garden. The garden plot is ready, and the girls will soon select the seeds for planting. If the weather does not permit the girls to plant the seeds, they go down to the greenhouse and do some work in transplanting plants.

Emma Pohipe has very nicely finished her woven mats. She has started on some purses of lovely designs, which are already made for weaving on the purses. Emma is doing excellent work and deserves much credit for it.
