

From the Vocational Departments

HOME ECONOMICS: The machines have been busily going in the classrooms of Mrs. Sanders as the girls of the 10C group have been sewing small tea towels and making little dresses for the smaller girls. The classes of the 9C group are mending material for the smaller boys and have been sewing small tea towels.

The girls of the food classes of Mrs. Johnson are studying cereals. They will plan breakfast consisting of cereals. The Everyday Living classes will analyze the daily health habits.

The dressing of chickens for cold saorage, and the preparation of bread has taken up most of the senior's time in Miss White's class. They also prepared the refreshments for the senior reception.

The junior class has been studying the classification of food and of menu making in preparation for moving into the junior Practice House in the near future.

"Clickety Click" the needles are busily working as the girls practice knitting in Mrs. Peppers' classes. The class will help in knitting for Red Cross work.

Mrs. Cronk, who has been in full charge of the cannery, will resume her classes this week.

The girls of Mrs. Sanders knitting class are knitting junior sets consisting of sweaters, caps mittens and other articles for small children.

Sorting and cleaning of beans and the canning of them have kept Mrs. James class busy at the cannery.

TAILOR SHOP: Under the supervision of Mr. James, Clarence LaRoque, Elnathan Davis, and Wilfred Buber have made four bus driver's uniforms for different agencies.

The band suits will be started next week. Besides all these, the boys have made up three suits.

CARPENTRY: The general work of carpentry is to finish any little detail that needs repairing.

There is work being done for Mrs. Pepper, These are four big drawing boards which are being done by Robert Davis.

Miss Clark will receive a bookshelf which was made by John Plouffe and Harold Dilts.

Miss Cruise will also receive a bookshelf which was made by Paul LaRoque and Rosewell Eddenshaw.

Mr. Larsen's garage is being worked on by Walter Champine, Orville Perry, and Ray Brady.

The shingling of the onion house roof was done by both divisions.

The senior carnival booths were made by all the senior carpenter boys.

BAKERY: The bakers for this school term are mornings: Harold Joseph, George Rice, and Louis Youngman, afternoons are Sanford Beaudry and Billy Jackson.

Harold and George have been making the pastries on the morning shift while Louis has been mixing the dough. Sanford and Billy usually do the finishing touches. They are doing fine work and are improving every day.

AUTO SHOP: Henry Cross, the student shop foreman, and his helpers have given Mr Hudson's Chevrolet a complete going over.

Frank Gochanour has removed the transmission from the Chevrolet panel, dismounted, repaired, and assembled it again. He has done a nice job.

Last week the group had a written test on specific lubrication. Our next written test is on valve action on four and six cylinder motors.

Home Room

(Continued from page 3)

adoption and enforcement of protective game laws as the reservation would do much to increase the population of economic wildlife and conserve this resource for beneficial use.—ROB'T SANDERVILLE

FORT BELKNAP RESERVATION

In this home room the Students have been busily writing articles. The articles written concern the academic work, vocations football games, daily routine, and in general any thing pertaining to the school. Each student is assigned an article to write on. These articles are to be handed in to the reservation paper published monthly.

The other activities planned are making individual maps of the reservation. As soon as these maps are completed they will all work on larger maps of the reservation. Also they will finish their workbooks which will keep them busily engaged for awhile.

Swing Music by Tom Serene

You may be certain that the girls to be escorted were down in the reception room in Winona hall right on the dot on the evening of Oct. 18, when Tom Serene and his orchestra were at the gym to play for the first escort dance of the year.