

-From the Vocational Departments

CARPENTER SHOP: Most of the boys in the carpenter shop have been making miscellaneous articles like picture frames, crib boards, etc. B. Bearchum, H. Whitford, W. Teton and D. Williams helped put up the new basketball backboards with the assistance of Mr. Mason's afternoon class. Ray Brady has just completed work on his writing desk which is a very fine piece of furniture. F. Tyler and W. Teton repaired windows in the grade school building.

TAILOR SHOP: The tailor shop is a very busy shop. The boys have been making four suits of clothes, working on the band uniforms, completing the bus drivers' uniforms, and doing a great deal of pressing and cleaning.

Elnathan Davis is now relining Miss Clark's coat for one of his projects. He is also making a pair of pants.

Clarence LaRoque is working on a suit of clothes and has already finished the coat for another suit. Edgar Saluskin and Raymond Scott are working on practice pants and are improving rapidly.

PAINT SHOP: The painters have been busy putting glass back on window frames. The frames also have a new coat of paint on them. The paint shop is looking very fine since it has been repainted by the painters.

The boys have learned to use the spray gun very effectively, proving that its much easier than using a paint brush.

PRINT SHOP: The print shop boys have been kept busy with the Chemawa American and other miscellaneous articles. Joe Broncheau printed the 1941-1942 Chemawa basketball schedules. H. Teo and E. Spencer did odd jobs in printing various small cards, etc.

AUTO SHOP: Frank Harrison, George Stenger and Arnold Davis are overhauling a Chevrolet panel.

The "little big man" and foreman of the shop, Shorty Cross, is in the hospital.

Dennis McCraigie, who is new to the shop, is the tool boy and has learned how to keep the shop in respectable order.

Frank Gochanoer and Ray Bennett are both working on the repairs for the project truck.

HOME ECONOMICS: The upholstering of chairs and the making of draperies and curtains for use in their practice house have kept the senior girls busy. The preparation and serving of meat and the preparations for the football banquet was under their charge.

The junior girls have been making curtains and furnishings to be used in their practice house also. They are working on their suits and sweaters for themselves.

Upon the completion of their house coats or dresses of cotton material, the sophomore girls of Mrs. Sanders class have started making pajama sets to match their house coats. Just as soon as these sets are finished those ahead in their work may make themselves a corduroy jumper.

Cooking of candy and popcorn balls will keep the eighth grade girls busy for a while. After the holiday, they will start planning and serving luncheons.

The girls of the Arts and Crafts class have spent most of their time in making Christmas presents for their mothers. They have also received two new smoked skins from Warm Springs which will be used in the making of ornaments for their own use.

Proper table manners, setting the table, and correct use of table service have been demonstrated by each member of the seventh grade food class. They are learning and studying different ways of preparing meats, and vegetables. The girls have prepared an Indian dinner of fried bread, Indian stew, and coffee.

Christmas Verses by Grade School

Christmas bells are ringing;
The children are singing,
They are full of cheer
'Cause Santa Claus is here.

—DOROTHY WICKS

Santa Claus is here
Driving his deer,
Bringing out sweet cheer
Throughout the year.

—NORMA O' CONNOR

Christmas bells gaily ring
And children's voices sweetly sing
Christmas time is really here,
Happiness is everywhere.
Christmas time brings good cheer
And joyous times every year,
Christmas bells sweetly chime,
Christmas time, Christmas time!

—LILLIAN LYLE

Christmas comes a joyous time-
For little gifts you get for a dime,
From good old Mister Santa Claus,
While on the roof his reindeer pause,
Bringing with him Christmas joys
For all the little girls and boys.

—EVANGELINE SWITZLER

From the Alumni

George Bear Cloud, Alvin Bobb, Robert Charles, and Dave Halfmoon, former students who had been attending the National Defense school left Chemawa December 9th to work at the Boeing Plant in Seattle, Washington.

Charles Farron, class of '39, is now working at the Ship Yards in Portland, Oregon.

Bud Archambeau, class of '39, is now working at the Ship Yards in Portland, Oregon.

Alfonse Hoptowit, former student who on leaving here entered Washington State College and graduated in '40, is now playing professional football for the noted Chicago Bears.

Hamilton Green, graduate of '35, after training he received in Yakima, Washington, is now working for National Defense at the Boeing Plant in Seattle, Washington.