

News Briefs

George Rice, Bkr. 1-c, stationed at Bremerton, Washington, was a recent campus visitor.

Miss Ruth Jensen, a nurse on our hospital staff, returned on Feb. 18 from her vacation. Miss Jensen spent her leave visiting at her home in Wisconsin.

Miss Goings and Ziebach celebrated St. Patrick's Day with a trip to Portland where they attended the boxing finals and the Don Cossack chorus.

Arnie Davis, Rdm. 3-c, a graduate of Chemawa class of 1944 and his sister, Caroline, were campus visitors recently. Arnie was on leave from the Navy.

Mrs. Bertha A. Ellinger, superintendent of Indian Education, from Salt Lake City is on the campus. She is helping Dr. Tysinger get the books, recently received, graded.

Mrs. Rose Bronson (the former Rose Gray) and son, Dean, visited Miss Peters on March 4. Mrs. Bronson was a graduate of Chemawa in 1922. Her home is in Nome, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Porter of Lapwai, Idaho, were visitors of Miss Peters. Mrs. Porter, the former Cecelia Smith, was a former Chemawa student. Mr. Porter is supply clerk at Lapwai.

Fred Rickard, formerly boys' adviser here, is now attending Oregon State College where he is enrolled in the school of Forestry. He spent a week with his family on the campus during the spring vacation.

Mr. Wright Noel is home for a short stay. He is returning soon to the Marine hospital in San Francisco for further treatment for a hand injury suffered some months ago in connection with farm duties.

Miss Sylvia M. Dorweiler, the new registrar and music teacher, arrived at Chemawa and took up the new duties on March 1. Miss Dorweiler was transferred here from Santa Fe, New Mexico. We are glad to welcome Miss Dorweiler to our school.

The juniors may not have been the first to go swimming this spring but they think they were the first to picnic. On Feb. 15 they entertained the seniors and other guests at a picnic in Chemawa's Park. Everyone reported a fine time. Thanks, juniors.

"Books to the right of you, books to the left of you, and Dr. Tysinger leading the way." This is the impression we get as we make our way through the stacks of books which Dr. Tysinger and his helpers have arranged from the many thousand volumes that have come to us from Tule Lake project for distribution in this area.

Pfc. Jimmie LaRance of the Marine Corps and Leona Bell, were quietly married at Stevensville, Washington, February 27. Jimmie came to the campus en route home from duty in the South Pacific. Both have been class mates of this year's Seniors. They are now living in Portland. Jimmie's discharge will be final very soon. We extend wishes of happiness to them.

George Christian, who attended Chemawa 1935 to 1937, was recently a week-end Chemawa visitor. He is now a barber in San Diego, where he makes his home.

Pfc. Eugene Hoffer of the Marine Corps visited the campus en route to his home on a 60 day furlough. Gene has had no overseas duty but will be stationed at Bremerton, Washington. His discharge will become final May 16, 1948. Dorothy Billings, a former student, accompanied Eugene to Wapato, Washington, where they will be married. We wish both much happiness in the coming years.

Lt. Kenneth Van Pelt called on friends here this month. He entered Chemawa in 1938 after graduating from a school in San Francisco. He entered Chemawa for vocational training as a tailor and left the school in 1940. Kenny entered the service of his country serving in the armored tank corps, in the ETO. He participated in the Normandy landing on D-Day. At the present he is at the Ft. Lewis, Washington, hospital taking treatments for a leg injury which he received while in service.

Other recent visitors: Supt. Archie Phinney and Victor Fontenelle, chief clerk, of the Northern Idaho agency, Walter Sheldon, chief clerk of the Umatilla agency, and Mrs. Sheldon; Supt. Evans' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Evans, of Malad, Idaho; Pressley LaBreche, class of 1938, recently returned from overseas, and now employed by the Siletz office and headquartered at Astoria; Professors Whiting and Cressman of the anthropology department, University of Oregon.

Mr. Thompson Resigns

Mr. Coquelle Thompson, boys' adviser, physical education director and coach of all sports, here since Sept. 6, 1943, resigned March 31 to go into private business in Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson received as farewell gifts an auto robe from fellow employees and a hand-carved table lamp from the students.

Mr. Thompson made a worthwhile contribution as a boys' adviser and will be greatly missed by the students with whom he worked. Also in the physical ed and coaching program he made an enviable record. His teams have brought home more than their share of honors, including a state championship in B-League football.
