

Ags Visit State College

On December 19, the upper agricultural students from Chemawa went on an all-day trip to Corvallis. There, they saw the different types and breeds of swine such as fat hogs, bacon hogs, and a new type of crossbred hogs.

They also went over to the horse barn where the draft horses and registered saddle horses were kept. Then they saw the steers at another place. They had some Hereford and Aberdeen Angus. There, they fed them the foods required for growth and for beef.

They went to the dairy barn which is really two big barns. They found that Corvallis has some good bulls and cows too. Their hay loft surely is a big place. They had hay, baled hay, and sacks of mixed feeds.

The Ag boys went to their museum, too, where they had all sorts of old weapons, rugs, antiques, rocks, bones, birds, animals, and Indian costumes, baskets, and weapons. They had most everything in there. Of course nothing was alive.

The Ag students are taking care of two calves which are half-Holstein and half-Hereford. We plan to fatten them to sell and buy some things for our club room. There is to be a small kitchenette at the back.

The boys had a meeting and elected the following officers: president, Jimmie Chocktoot; vice-president, Delford Crain; secretary treasurer, Leonard Cree.

Moving Days at Chemawa

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Tisinger, with their two children, Richard and Catherine Ann, have moved to Portland. The big white house formerly occupied by the Tisinger family now houses Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Aaron and their children; the apartment vacated by the Aarons is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe J. Weininger.

Reading Library Books

The twenty-four students enrolled in tenth grade have read 117 library books or an average of 4.6 per person. Marcelene Gensaw, having read 19 books, is their champion reader.

The Metlakatla, Alaska, all-Indian choir will sing at Chemawa February 8.

Many New Books In Library

During last summer and this fall seventy new books have been added to our library. About nine hundred volumes recieved from the Japanese relocation center at Tule Lake have been put on the shelves. The school has also recieved two hundred new textbooks.

Mrs. Sanders Jr. has been busy mending book as she has mended forty so far. The magazines have been moved to another part of the library so she could make room for the additional books.

Thrills

Not long ago Spade Cooly, a former C. I. S. student, and his cowboy musicians were at the armory in Salem. A number of Chemawa students were at the affair. Spade invited them backstage where they had a nice visit with him and two other stars, Bob Shannon and Billy Hill. Before the students left he gave each one his picture. It is rumored that Spade promised them he'd pay Chemawa a visit again some day.

MAYOR MILLER

Jessie Miller, a Senior, who hails from the Klamath Falls Agency, is mayor for the Student Council.
