

What Qualities Are Admired

The members of the Junior class have been interested in a question asked by the reporters in the Red Lake "Tomahawk," so they sent the question to members of the Chemawa staff to get their answers. The question was, "What qualities do you appreciate most in a student?"

The following are the answers received:

Mr. Kelley, superintendent: Developing and maintaining school spirit and loyalty to the school. Developing respect for persons and property. Civic pride. Willingness to learn. Good citizenship.

Mrs. Brannon, principal: Courtesy. Dependability. Initiative. Honesty.

Miss Goings, home economics teacher: Tenacity, "stick-to-it-iveness." Honesty. Trustworthiness. Thoughtfulness of the other fellow.

Miss Challis, girls' advisor: Dependability. Reliability. Loyalty. Cooperativeness. Courtesy.

Mrs. Detrick, 10th grade teacher: Cooperativeness, which implies willingness to do one's work. Obedience to rules and regulations. Willingness to listen to others' viewpoints. Courtesy and consideration for others.

Miss Dorweiller, music teacher: Courtesy, at all times to all people. Eagerness to learn. Cheerfulness. Pride in appearance, including both sitting and standing posture.

BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS

The Chemawa campus shows improvement since the trash cans have been distributed around in the most important spots. Every one is trying their best to keep their campus clean so when visitors come and look around they can truthfully say that we have a very clean campus.

Everyone keep up the good work and help out the civic commissioners and yard man, so that they can try in other ways to beautify the campus, instead of picking up papers all the time. Doing so is part of your future home training.—Delores Racehorse, Civic Commissioner.

Thank You!

It is with great pleasure that the Student Council, on behalf of the student body, take this opportunity to extend our sincere appreciation for the Christmas gifts sent to the students of Chemawa making Christmas a most joyous day.

Juniors Make Resolutions

Marceline Gensaw:

I will try and be more prompt at all classes. To have a more cheerful attitude toward my teachers and fellow classmates. To attend church every Sunday.

Ernestine Lane:

I will check on my personal appearance more closely. Try to be prompt at all my classes and details. Never miss church on Sunday.

Florence Ingawanup:

I will try to do everything to the best of my ability. Work for a more pleasing personality. Have greater consideration for others.

Lillian Mennick:

I resolve to be more polite. I will attend church every Sunday.

Jeannie Halfmoon:

I resolve to be a better human being.

GIRL SCOUTS MEET WITH SALEM TROOP

The girl Scouts met with Salem Troop 5 at the First Christian church on Thursday, January 15. Troop No. 5 presented the Chemawa Girl Scouts with several potted Narcissus bulbs just before Christmas.

Almost all the Girl Scouts have paid their dues and learned the scout laws.

The Girl Scouts raised $17.50 for the troop fund by selling Christmas cards. They wish to thank all the employees who purchased the cards.
