

Girls See Cooking Demonstration

Miss Frances Fricker, home economist of the Portland Gasand Coke company, demonstrates modern cake making to Mrs. Jeanette Hauser's seventh grade class in the automatic oven of one of the schools new gas ranges. Miss Fricker prepared a whole meal while the seventh grade home economics students watched attentively. The girls kneeling are, from left: Arlene Peterson, Yvonne Scott, Margaret Sampson. Standing, from left, are: Frances Lytle, Marion Larson, Gertrude Nason, Maxine Washington, Thelma Dick, Imogene Washington, Rosaline Shellal.

Catholic Bell Discovered

In an attempt to rid the Catholic Chapel of its undesirable tenants, pigeons. Mary Ann Grunlose and Eleanor Charley climbed up into the Chapel attic where they discovered not only the pigeons but a huge bell. They called Father Rodakowski to their aid so the three armed with a hammer, rope, and flashlight hung the bell, so now the bell sends out its chimes every Sunday morning.

Protestant Choir Entertains at Turner

The Protestant choir gave a program at Turner on March 4. This was the choir's thank you to the Turner Sunshine club for making the choir robes.

The choir was directed by Miss Marjory Olson and accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Wilcox.

The choir members, Miss Olson, Rev. and Mrs. Wilcox were guests at a reception following the program.

Ag News

Wheat and oat planting was started on March 11. The planting is rather late this year because of the heavy rain. The following week it was hoped, weather permitting, that plowing and working the land would begin. Early potatoes are high on the list of crops to be planted in the spring.

The last shipment of swine went to the butcher shop and will be placed in cold storage.

The farmers will be working long hours when the weather starts clearing up and the ground dries out.