

HOMEMAKERS CORNER

The class in beginning sewing has been making simple articles to learn the first essential steps of sewing. Quite an interest has been created in good grooming for school and in the relation of clothing and health hygiene.

The ninth grade are reviewing the care and use of the sewing machine, the use of the pattern and construction steps. They have completed one article of household linen and are in the process of study and choice of pajama patterns and the cutting of pajamas.

The tenth grade girls have completed their review and demonstration on the care of the sewing machine. They have been discussing the different problems on choice of suitable materials, patterns, fastenings, etc., on children's clothing. The group has now begun the project of making dresses for small girls.

PERSONNEL CHANGES

The school year of 1950-51 started with three changes in the personnel in the home ec department. Mrs. Mary James and Mrs. Dollie Hauser, who have been in the department many years, retired at the end of last school year. Mrs. Annette McDonald has been transferred from dining room matron to hospital attendant. Mrs. Rosetta Johnston of Salem is replacing Mrs. James in the clothing department and Mrs. Ethel Salter, formerly on the hospital staff, has taken over Mrs. Hauser's work and is in charge of the laundry. Mrs. Effie Sharman has returned to join the kitchen and dining room staff.

The senior girls are very happy to have an opportunity this year for the first time to get some experience in quantity baking in the school bakery. Tallulah Tulee, Eleanor Charley and Sylvia Winnier are assisting Mrs. Sanders in the bakery every other afternoon. The other senior girls will have the same opportunity later in the year.

After some changing, the 8th, 9A,

10A and 11A girls finally became regular foods classes for the first semester of the school year. Several trips have been made to the orchard and garden to gather supplies for the classes. The foods classes have canned tomato juice, plum butter, dill pickles, sweet pickles and mustard pickles. The classes have been having a review over last year's work in addition to solving new problems. The 11A girls have had a try at making yeast bread and rolls. They are looking forward to preparing some group dinners and to becoming more efficient in their work.

HEARD IN THE CLASS ROOMS

On September 26, the fourteen members of the senior class held their first meeting. The purpose was to elect class officers, select class colors, a class flower and a motto. The result of the meeting was as follows: Reginald Wells, class president, Loretta Quaempts, vice-president, James Whitworth, secretary-treasurer, Raymond Pete, student-editor for the Chemawa American and Jean Pichette, chairman for the senior assembly. The colors chosen were maroon and white, class flower the white carnation and the class motto, "We finish to begin."

STUDENT WINS SCHOLARSHIP

George Williams, Jr., a member of the Junior class last year here at Chemawa, was awarded a scholarship at the McKelburg Advertising Art school in Portland. George made the drawings in the spring issue of the Chemawa American. His classmates wish him much success in his art work.

FOOTBALL BREEZES

With the beginning of the school year, Coach Kettleleson sent out the smoke signals for the football players to which many responded. Fourteen lettermen were among those reporting, besides many new men.

The first game of the season took place at Mill City, which resulted in

JUST BETWEEN TWO SENIORS

1st senior: "Gee, we got to get busy and earn some money for our class if we do all the things we want to."

2nd senior: "Yah! but there is nothing to do but sell pop and we can't make much on that."

1st senior: "Boy, what a headache this money-making proposition is."

Mrs. Brannon: "First call for nut pickers."

All seniors: "Come on, Miss Morse, let's go."

Result: Seniors have $27.18 in the treasury.

P. S.—We took the Pep squad with us and the Cheer leaders hope to acquire new skirts.

The members of the senior class are working on the preparation of an assembly program which they hope to give November 2.

MOVIE CONDUCT

Students, have you ever checked yourself on your movie conduct? Since a new projector has been purchased which eliminates the necessity of stopping so as to change reels every few minutes, there should be no excuse for noise or unnecessary commotion, yet both employees and students have remarked that there is unnecessary noise in the auditorium on Saturday evenings. When there is noise and talking it is difficult for one to hear what is being said in the picture and that spoils what otherwise would have been a good picture. We all go to the auditorium on Saturday evenings for one reason, that is to be entertained with a movie. So cooperate and let's see if we can not improve our movie conduct. Just ask yourself this simple question, "Am I the noisy one?" and if the answer is "Yes," then do something about it.—Sylvia Winnier.
