graduates; Imogene Washington, Salutatorian, will deliver the welcome address, and Augustine Phillips, Valedictorian, will give the farewell.

VALEDICTORIAN AND SALUTATORIAN

Augustine Phillips, 17, of the Yakima tribe, White Swan, Washington, achieved the honor of valedictory of the class of '53. For her commencement address, she has chosen to speak on "Living Democracy."

Imogene Washington, 18, of Sedro Wooley, Washington, was awarded Salutatorian honors. Collecting knick-knacks is Imogene's hobby, but she plans to put most of her energy into either serving the United States in some branch of the Women's Armed Forces or going to

MR. BRAMLET'S MESSAGE

May 15, 1953, is a milestone for both groups—Navajos and Regulars. It is also a milestone for Chemawa because it is our first attempt at such extensive placement. We hope that the learning and skills you have acquired will be put to maximum use.

You are graduates of Chemawa and nothing you or we can do about it will change that fact. We sincerely hope that your every action will bring the highest satisfaction to you. If such be the case, Chemawa will indeed be proud of you.

Good Luck and our best wishes in every worthy enterprise.

business school. For her commencement address, she has chosen "Progress Through Education."
