

Religious Education Offered

All students at Chemawa are offered religious education and church services. A new schedule for Sunday church activities is being used this year. While Protestant church services are being held, the Catholic students attend catechism classes. Following this, the Catholic Church has Mass, and Protestant students go to Sunday school.

Father Austin Johnson is in charge of the campus Catholic church services and catechism, and Rev. A. A. Talbot has charge of Protestant church services and Sunday school. Chemawa appreciates the work of these men, and also the services given by many other persons in the religious education of students. Seminarians and fraters from Mt. Angel Monastery, who assist Father Johnson are William Johnson, Harver Tixix, James Dieringer, Charles Pajot, Maurice Clemons, Andrew Fischer, Frater Placidus, Frater Timothy, and Frater Ambrose.

Assisting Rev. Talbot in the Protestant Sunday school, are Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wright, Mrs. John Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Silas M. Olson, Mrs. Carl Wekander, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kay Fenton, Betty Cogswell, Betty Simrell, Roy Williams, Cal Brown, and Kenneth Willis.

Dancing at Chemawa

There is dancing every Friday night in the gymnasium from 7:30 to 10:00. Junior high school students may stay until 9:00.

The dances are always well attended. Students seem to enjoy them. We dance to records, some new, some as old as the hills. Classes take turns playing them. For specially sponsored dances we have an orchestra from Salem.

Passing of the Yellow Hornet

It is with regret that we note the passing of an old Chemawa landmark,—the Yellow Hornet, or Cracker Box, as it has been familiarly known to students and employees alike. It has served the school faithfully and well for some twenty-five years. From 1928, the year of its purchase, until 1936, it was used as a bus to transport students to Salem for special assignments, and for week-end coast trips.

In 1936 it gave way to a Dodge bus, and since then the Yellow Hornet has served in the humble capacity of a plumber's service truck. Plumbers Kunkle, Angus, Springer, and Hardy have all thrilled to the marvelous surge of some 40-odd horsepower as they pressed the accelerator, and have delighted in the prompt response to a featherlike touch of the brake pedal.

We hope that some kind person will give it a good home, but if fate decrees that it go to the junk yard, we wish for the Yellow Hornet an imposing position up front as befits its long record of service.

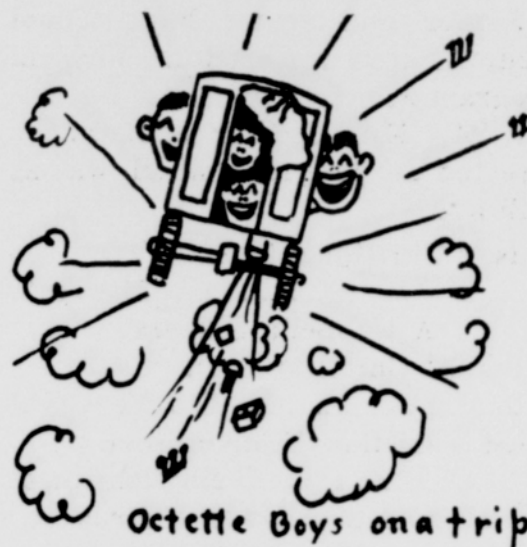

"So long, old pal, it's been good to know you."

The Yellow Hornet, after many last minute reprieves, granted it as a friend in need in countless emergencies, has at last reached the end of the trail.
